Polio-on Your Doorstep

Tonight, between 6.30 and 7.30, thousands of mothers canvass homes with porch lights burning for Vic-Van Isle Kinsmen's "Mothers' March on Polio" in aid of B.C. Polio Fund. Mrs. P. C. Sims, 484 Kingston, greets canvasser Mrs. Edgar Wadsworth, whose special interest in the drive lies in the fact her husband is a polio victim (see story, Page 5). Signal for porch lights to go on will be a long blast on the old brewery whistle and a round from Work Point time gun. Cheques should be made out to B.C. Polio Fund and mailed to Campaign Headquarters, 625 Fort. (Times Photo.)

7 Dead, 17 Hurt as Winter's Worst Blizzard Moves East

BLIZZARDS ISOLATE MANY U.K. VILLAGES

LONDON (CP)—Helicopters dived over the craggy hills of north Scotland taking power-line repairmen to isolated villages today as ships bucked rough seas along the coasts of the British Isles.

Severe blizzards Friday ripped down powerlines and left many villages and fishing ports without electricity. In the outlying islands of the Shetland-Orkney groups workmen waged a round-the-clock fight against the snow to restore power supplies. Twelve men were flown to the Orkneys to speed up repairs.

Forecasters say the cold spell will continue. Nearly all roads in southern England today were coated with snow and ice, slowing heavy week-end traffic to half its normal speed.

Mayor Hume Demands All-Out War on Drugs

ANDY MacKENZIE STORY CONTINUES IN WEEKEND

The second instalment of Squadron Leader Andy MacKenzie's story of his imprisonment in Communist China appears in Weekend Magazine in this issue.

It describes the beginning of his interrogation while he was kept in solitary confinement, cold and hungry and in fear of death.

For the Album of Hockey Stars today the subject is Detroit's "Dutch" Reibel.

TAIPEI (AP)—Nationalist defense ministry sources report small parties of Chinese Reds have landed on four undefended islets about 12 miles north of Nationalist-held Nanchishan.

Faure Asked To Organize French Cabinet

PARIS (CP)—Edgar Faure, foreign minister in the outgoing government of Pierre Mendes-France, tonight accepted an invitation from President Rene Coty to try to form a new government.

Faure, a Radical Socialist who held the job as premier for about six weeks in 1952, has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate since the National Assembly overthrew Pierre Mendes-France Feb. 5.

Faure was finance minister in Mendes-France's cabinet for almost all of the 7½-month term. In the final days he moved to the foreign ministry when Mendes-France gave up that post.

The president called on Faure after the National Assembly rejected Christian Pineau's premiership bid.

Vancouver Sun Goes to 7 Cents

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The Vancouver Sun today announced increases in its single copy price from five to seven cents and monthly subscription rates from $1.25 to $1.50. The Saturday edition will be boosted from 10 to 14 cents.

The newspaper said there had been no price increases for five years "although materials, services and wages and salaries of everyone working for the Sun have increased every year."

Vincent Jury Out

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The fate of carnival worker Lawrence Vincent rested in the hands of a 12-man jury today after Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris implied that the accused had been the last person to see 12-year-old Donna Lee Corbett alive. The jury retired at 12.42 p.m.

However, Newcastle, against Notts Forest, and Sunderland against Swansea, can qualify by winning replays. It also was a bad day for London clubs. Chelsea, Tottenham and Charlton lost in out-of-town games. (See scores, page 3.)

U.S. Airliner, 16 Aboard, Missing

BY UNITED PRESS

Plane crashes in bad weather took at least four lives today and 19 other persons were missing.

A Trans-World airliner with 16 persons aboard was missing in snowing weather on a flight from Albuquerque to Santa Fe, N.M. Ground parties went into the Sandia Mountains south of Albuquerque, and around Albuquerque search planes took to the air.

Near Loami in Sangamon County, Ill., the wreckage of a light plane with a woman and three men aboard was found about 10.30 a.m. It was believed to have crashed about eight hours earlier. A farm woman said she heard the plane low over the house about 2 a.m. The wreckage was found later nearby.

At New Orleans, search went on by air and water for a plane believed to have crashed into Lake Pontchartrain with three Indiana men aboard.

CPA to Use Comet Jets

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters)—Comet jet airliners will be used within two years on the trans-polar air service between Amsterdam and Vancouver, the president of Canadian Pacific Airlines, Grant MacConachie, said here today.

He predicted that within two years Australians will be able to fly from Amsterdam over the "top of the world" to Canada and then to Sydney in Comet jets.

Upsets Mark Cup Soccer In Britain

LONDON (Reuters)—The underdogs had their day in Football Association Cup play today. Third Division York City beat First Division Tottenham Hotspur 3-1; Second Division Notts County blanked First Division Chelsea 1-0, and Second Division Swansea Town rallied to tie First Division Sunderland 2-2 and force a replay.

Only three First Division teams—Huddersfield, Manchester City and Wolverhampton Wanderers—are certain of their places in the first-eight to qualify for the quarter-finals.

However, Newcastle, against Notts Forest, and Sunderland against Swansea, can qualify by winning replays.

It also was a bad day for London clubs. Chelsea, Tottenham and Charlton lost in out-of-town games. (See scores, page 3.)

Police Union Bucks 84-Hour Work Week

(Compiled From CP and BUP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume today called on every member of the Vancouver police department to work 12 hours a day, seven days a week and without holiday to combat what he termed the city's "shocking drug problem."

Police Federal Union president Det. Fred Dougherty said the union would not agree to Mayor Hume's recommendation because the present drug situation here "could hardly be called an emergency."

"We will not sacrifice any part of our contract in connection with working hours," Dougherty bluntly warned.

Mayor Hume said police would be paid overtime for the extra hours worked. His plan, in effect, would ask police to work an 84-hour week during the "emergency."

NOT EMERGENCY

The union official said the police would work unlimited hours in any "real emergency" such as a disaster, but that the present drug menace was not serious enough for such drastic action.

"In this instance the union will insist on the city keeping faith with the full terms of our contract," Dougherty declared.

The mayor outlined his plan in a statement issued following publication by the Vancouver Sun Friday of a dispatch from New York exposing Vancouver's connections with international narcotics rings.

MOST INFAMOUS

The Sun story, written by Jack Wasserman, Sun reporter, and columnist in New York on special assignment, said top New York narcotics investigators list Vancouver as one of the most infamous drug centres on the continent. (See Wasserman story, page 2.)

The mayor, who stressed that the plan was his own personal suggestion and made without consultation with other members of the police commission, said it would keep 350 trained policemen on duty in Vancouver at all times. He is chairman of the three-man commission.

He gave no indication when the plan would be placed before the commission.

"We could also call out retired policemen to provide trained reserves," said Mayor Hume.

He termed the plan "the starting point" of an all-out drive to meet the "emergency situation."

"If conditions do not improve, we may have to ask for more help."

BRUSSELS (AP)—Belgium's Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak will leave by plane Feb. 23 for a one-week visit to Canada.

SEATO PACT RATIFIED

MANILA (AP)—The eight-power Manila pact, aimed at halting Communist aggression and subversion in Southeast Asia, was formally ratified and put into force today.

Instruments of ratification of the pact, called the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty, were deposited by representatives of the United States, Britain, Thailand, Philippines, Pakistan, New Zealand, France and Australia.

Formal ratification came barely five months after the treaty was signed in Manila Sept. 8.

Eden Heads East To Start Talks On Asia Defense

LONDON (Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Eden today headed for Thailand and talks to set in motion the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

At the same time, he will confer in Bangkok on British and American differences over the Formosa crisis and will examine the post-armistice situation in Indo-China with the other delegates at the eight-power conference.

Taking part in the Bangkok meetings will be Britain, the United States, France, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Britain regards the Formosa situation as highly inflammable. Eden does not feel a settlement is possible while the Chinese Communists refuse to consider all suggestions short of the Nationalist stronghold being handed over to them.

For this reason Britain does not favor the idea of a conference—as suggested by Russia—to arrange a settlement, and has told Moscow that at such a conference Nationalist China, as a party principally concerned, must be present. The Chinese Communists are strongly against this.

'Joker' Seen in New Kremlin Plan But Top Men Go to Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—The United States and Britain received with skepticism today Russia's latest proposal for destruction of nuclear weapons, but nonetheless decided to send in a top team of negotiators to meet the Reds at next week's disarmament conference.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the United States' chief delegate to the United Nations and Anthony Nutting for Britain will have a chance to review the Russian proposal with Russia's Andre Gromyko when they meet in London next Friday.

The surprise stature of the Russian delegate was a factor in the decision to have the United States and Britain send top representatives to sit in on the London conference.

There was no real hope that the London meeting would come up with a disarmament formula. But Russia's present talkative mood lent hope for at least limited headway.

In London and Washington it was speculated that the newest Russian proposal was based on a Kremlin fear that the West was getting too big a lead in the H-bomb race.

Final 1953-54 Crop Payments Available To Help Seeding Costs

(From CP and BUP Dispatches)

Western farmers likely will receive their final payment on the 1953-54 wheat crop about spring seeding time, Trade Minister Howe said Friday night. He did not say what the payment will amount to.

"The best plan we (the wheat board and Mr. Howe) could develop, which now is being further explored, is to start with an interim payment on oats, followed by an interim payment on barley, followed by a final payment on wheat delivered to the wheat board in the crop year 1953-54."

"It takes about six weeks to make the three payments, but we feel those three payments could be made by the time the money is required for seeding. NOT A PROMISE."

"I would not like to make the statement as a promise, but that is the conclusion as to the best that could be accomplished when the matter was discussed between myself and the wheat board."

Winding up an hour-long wheat debate, Mr. Howe also said:

"The prospects look very good for a crop next year."

"... We will have the carry-over. I believe, down to manageable proportions."

Mr. Howe said it is too far in advance to announce the interim payments for oats and barley. However, they would be "fairly substantial."

There was nothing to indicate that the initial price on wheat would be changed in the present crop year.

Non-Confidence Motion Beaten

The Commons defeated a Progressive Conservative motion of non-confidence in the government by a vote of 111 to 62 Friday. The motion reflected Opposition criticism to the government's immigration policy.

With one exception, W. D. Wylie (SC-Medicine Hat), the opposition voted solidly against the Liberal majority. A Quebec Independent, Fernand Girard, Lapointe, voted with the opposition.

The opposition's three-point motion moved by David Fulton (PC-Kamloops), last Tuesday said:

1. The government's immigration policy is not clear, consistent or co-ordinated;
2. The policy is not in conformity with the needs or the responsibilities of Canada;
3. Administration of the policy denies simple justice to Canadians and non-Canadians.

Gardiner Answers B.C. Critics

Agriculture Minister Gardiner Friday night tipped British Columbia poultry men how they could buy feed grains cheaply.

Of course, he said, it would take a little initiative and organization but it would be done. He had "arranged" for B.C. farmers in the past.

Poultry and cattle producers in the B.C. interior could set up co-operatives to buy their feed grain directly from prairie grain growers, he said.

The co-operatives would deal with the Canada wheat board because prairie farmers must market their grain through the board.

Mr. Gardiner replied to opposition members from B.C. who criticized the government decision to cut the subsidy on prairie feed grains shipped to Ontario, Quebec and B.C.

The government, which formerly paid the entire freight charge on shipments from Alberta to B.C. points now pays only those charges in excess of $5 a ton. The cost from Calgary to Vancouver is $10.80 a ton.

George Hahn (SC-New Westminster) said the decision will mean a huge loss to poultry men on the lower B.C. mainland.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes (PC-Esquamalt-Saanich) said poultry farmers on Vancouver Island have been dealt "a very severe blow" by the government decision, which became effective Feb. 1. The government should reconsider the "very, very, harsh decision."

H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) said B.C. farmers should be permitted to buy their feed grains directly from the wheat board, a situation, Mr. Gardiner said is possible.

Harold Winch (CCF, Vancouver East) said Friday a young Chinese who will graduate from the University of British Columbia this spring has been refused permission to remain in Canada with his parents.

Mr. Winch said the student was born in Hong Kong and therefore is a British subject. So were his wife and two children.

Mr. Winch did not identify the student but said his father, mother, brother and uncle now matter of principle."

Plane in Emergency Landing on Highway

PRINCETON, B.C. (CP) — Two RCAF men escaped injury Friday when they made a forced landing in a private plane on the Hope-Princeton Highway near Allison Pass, 100 miles east of Vancouver. They were Glenn Cowan, pilot, and Ken Robertson, passenger. On leave from the air force, both are from Alert Bay, B.C. They were en route from Port Hardy, B.C., to St. John, Que., where they are stationed.

Vancouver Key Centre For Dope Ring

Vancouver Sun Writer Says City's Reputation Among Worst in America

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Vancouver Sun says in a dispatch from New York that top narcotics investigators in that city list Vancouver as one of the most infamous drug centres on the North American Continent.

The story was written by Jack Wasserman, Sun crime reporter and night-life columnist, in New York on special assignment.

"So bad is Vancouver's reputation that New York narcotics officers bandy the names of Vancouver underworld figures with the same familiarity they mention big shots in the U.S. drug traffic," Wasserman reported.

"Narcotics bureau supervisor James Ryan and his fellow officers told me that Vancouver is a key market centre for the same giant, sprawling, international drug ring that has turned New York City into a battleground between police and dope peddlers."

Wasserman reported that New York police named Antoine d'Agostino, alias Michel Sisco, a one-time Montreal restaurant operator, and Paul Mondolini, a French jewel thief, as the kingpins in the international ring with headquarters in Mexico that now is supplying the needs of Vancouver's 2,000 addicts, as well as the other major markets of North America.

Wasserman said that underlying the importance of the Vancouver market to the syndicate "is the clearly established fact that two Vancouver drug purveyors were considered valuable enough to become top men of the international conspiracy."

The arrest of one of them in New York in 1953 touched off a chain reaction from Mexico to New York and back and for a brief period halted major shipments of heroin into the New York area," Wasserman said.

One of the two now is in jail and the other is dead.

Wasserman said he also was told by New York officers that Montreal is the main Canadian trans-shipment point for Vancouver-bound narcotics.

Chamber Tries Again For United Appeal

Fund-Seeking Groups To Be Invited To Talk Over Plan to Cut Down Drives

Another attempt to rid Victoria of a multiplicity of public subscription campaigns throughout the year is to be made by the Chamber of Commerce.

Directors of the Chamber at a meeting Friday instructed president Stuart Keate to call together representatives of the major fund-seeking organizations with a view to bringing about a united appeal.

Those slated to be invited to the talks will include the Community Chest, the Red Cross and Salvation Army.

ON RECORD

The chamber is already on record as favoring the united appeal. R. H. B. Ker, who with Courtney Haddock, made a preliminary investigation into the matter, reported to directors Friday "a certain amount of opposition definitely exists."

He cited the Red Cross and Salvation Army as organizations opposed to the scheme. He said they felt they would not be as successful in a joint campaign as they had been in waging their own drives.

He said some assurance would have to be given these organizations they would not lose in order to bring them into a united plan.

"But if we could get them into it, we could get the rest quite easily," he felt.

SPRING AND FALL?

At the same time, he acknowledged, that if all charitable and community organizations did band together there might still have to be two appeals to the

NEWS OF C OF C

Canada Pays Coast Guard Fee to U.S.

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce learned with surprise Friday that the Canadian government pays "a very large sum" to the United States government for Coast Guard protection.

Man to supply this information was Tom Denny, who for years has had under study the matter of establishing a Canadian Coast Guard service.

The information made a difference to the chamber's reaction to a letter from Port Angeles, asking that it support the city of Port Angeles in fighting to keep the U.S. Coast Guard station there. Recently there have been reports that the Coast Guard base is to be moved elsewhere.

While staying clear of any direct involvement, the chamber decided to write Transport Minister George Marler and inform him of the matter so that Ottawa can make official representations to Washington, D.C., if it deems it advisable.

PM Will Reveal Future Plans At Liberal Parley Next Month

By VICTOR MACKIE
Times Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA—Prime Minister L. St. Laurent is expected to indicate his plans for the future when the National Liberal Federation meets in Ottawa from March 28 to 30.

It will be the first meeting of the Liberal organization since the 1953 election, which saw the Liberal administration under Mr. St. Laurent re-elected by an overwhelming majority. Liberals are anxious to learn if their leader, now 73 years of age, intends to carry on in that office.

Members of the party who will attend the federation meeting are confidently expecting the prime minister to indicate his intention to continue as leader indefinitely.

Mr. St. Laurent returned from the recent trip overseas where he attended the prime ministers' Commonwealth conference in fine spirits and good health.

In the ordinary course of events the next federal election will be held in 1957 or 1958 at the latest. Mr. St. Laurent will be 75 or 76 at the time of that election. If he intends to go through the next election campaign, it would mean he would be prepared to remain in office for at least a year or two after the election.

During the last general election there were reports that Mr. St. Laurent would not lead the party through another general election campaign. But after the voting he indicated to newspapermen that provided his health remained good he might be prepared to carry on through another campaign.

Liberals doubt that Mr. St. Laurent is entertaining any thoughts of retiring in the near future. However, they will listen with interest when he addresses the meeting next month for a clue to his future plans.

Findings on Gibson Charges Must Be Public, CCF Warns

The report of the Lord Royal Commission should become public property immediately it is handed down, Arthur Turner (CCF-Vancouver East) said Friday.

County Court Judge Arthur E. Lord is a one-man commission, charged with determining whether there are "improprieties in the Social Credit government's issuing of forest management licenses."

Mr. Turner said the "public will want to know the outcome of this report. It should become a public document no matter what the content."

Mr. Turner demanded the government listen to the requests of trade union groups. "This government must be afraid to put labor's briefs before the standing committee on labor," he said.

He criticized government members, including Herbert Bruch (SC-Esquamalt) for bandying around the names of union officials as though they were irresponsible people."

Mr. Bruch had quoted George Home, secretary of the B.C. Federation of Labor, as calling Premier Bennett's bid for federal aid in unemployment a "political manoeuvre."

Comparisons Are in Order
With Esquimalt Member

By TONY DICKASON

When Herbert Joseph Bruch speaks in the legislature, one cannot help but endeavor to coin all sorts of fancy phrases to describe him. For Mr. Bruch, Sacred arrowhead from Esquimalt riding, is definitely a type. Perhaps unkindly—but the temptation is not to be resisted—he could be referred to as "babbling Bruch."

He's a parish priest character with a great colored voice lamp burning somewhere in the sky overhead. He is a devoted, devotee of all things good and wonderful, and all things great and small, and the Same Type as Lincoln—Who Did OK

The Esquimalt member is the closest thing to Abe Lincoln any Canadian Legislature has to offer. He looks the type, sans beard. Both Abe and Mr. Bruch would never have been approached by the liquor lobbies to pose for "men of distinction" ads. But when last heard from, Mr. Lincoln was fairly well established. To heck with any predictions in newspaper columns, but nevertheless Mr. Bruch appears to have some type of a future. He's a nice guy and a hard worker, of the kind that has a ready smile but little actual sense of humor.

A former official of the IWA, he's like a lighted match compared to a flint struck in a high wind in relation with most of the Sacred back-benchers. That is, better.

Though a back-bencher, he takes no back seat to opposition heckling. For instance when he said: "There is not quite the coalition between the Liberals and the CCF in Saskat-

'Herb' Would Cure Esquimalt Ills

Mr. Bruch is generally called "Herb," as the constituency recognized cure of Esquimalt ill.

He is one of the very few Sacred back-bench bodies the cabinet usually listens to.

Arthur Turner, CCF, Vancouver East, presented a knotty problem to the Legislature. He'll eventually get everyone tied up. He gave members ties, union made of course, as a good-will gesture. "Nice ones at that. Speaking, he said he was weary of moralizing and suggesting what should be done to raise the dignity of the House. Conservatively haberdashed Robert Bonner, our attorney-general, got a ribald affair: Leo Nimsick (CCF, Cranbrook), who usually wears 'em loud and lush, received a tie so quiet and shy it refused to be removed from the box.

(Ladies: Mrs. Lydia Arsens of Victoria bore a tie in the Legislature today.)

Among the day's speakers was John D. Tisdalle, Sacred and Saanich. He has another name, which he doesn't like. Said he, outside the House: "They usually call me John D., not the other one. I like people to use John Douglas." His other name is "Tidball." (Sorry, John, but it's too good a name not to mention.)

As compensation, Mr. Tisdalle may call be "Willis," a mid-name revealed to none but the select.

U.K. to Test New H-Bomb In Arctic?

Canadian Officials Doubtful Northern Site Practical

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadian officials Friday expressed doubt that the Arctic could be used as a site for testing and exploding a hydrogen bomb.

"I have never considered that possibility," said Northern Affairs Minister Lesage. "We have a lot of people up there, the weather-station men and Eskimos."

FOREST PLAN SLATED IN MANITOBA

WINNIPEG (BUP)—An important change in Manitoba's forest policy was disclosed on Friday by C. E. Greenlay, provincial minister of mines and natural resources.

He introduced in the Legislature a bill providing for "the disposal of Crown timber through the issue of forest management licenses." They would be 21-year licenses, with provision for renewal, he said.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Mrs. Maria Carletti gave a lock of her hair to her husband. It put an end to their marriage of six years.

Sisto Carletti, 59, testified in getting a divorce Friday that Maria, 67, chopped up the lock into tiny particles and mixed it with his smoking tobacco. "The combination, he said made him violently ill."

He charged cruelty.

Demos Help Ike Kill GOP Revolt On Tariff Cuts

Freer Trade Plan Splits Republicans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's tariff-cutting foreign trade program was pushed through the House of Representatives late Friday with a big assist from its Democratic majority.

After a bitter, two-day fight, the bill was passed on a roll-call vote of 295 to 110.

But the back of the opposition, led in part by members of Eisenhower's own party, was broken when the House defeated by seven votes an amendment by Representative Daniel A. Reed (Rep., N.Y.) which would have deprived the president of much of his power to over-ride recommendations of the tariff commission for higher trade barriers.

In this key test of the legislation, the vote was 206 to 199. Reed's amendment was supported by 119 Republicans and 80 Democrats, but opposed by 140 Democrats and 66 Republicans.

Voting for passage of the bill were 186 Democrats and 100 Republicans. Opposing it to the end were 75 Republicans and 35 Democrats. The bill now goes to the Senate.

Soon after the House action, Eisenhower expressed his gratification in a statement in which he said:

"This program is of tremendous significance to the economic health and security of the United States and our friends in the free world."

The bill, a major part of the administration's program for this session of Congress, extends the reciprocal trade program for three years from June 12 and gives the president authority to cut tariffs up to 15 per cent during that period in return for similar concessions in foreign markets.

Mercury Fumes Poison Four in B.C. Family

CINEMA, B.C. (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Walter Graham and their two sons, Tommy, three, and Bruce, one and a half, are recovering in hospital here after being overcome by mercury fumes in their home on the Prince George highway.

Details on the poisoning are meagre, but it was believed Mr. Graham was heating a mixture of gold and mercury and the family was overcome when mercuric oxide fumes filled their small home.

BUDGET SLASHED $7,625

A library board budget-slashing meeting Friday lopped $7,625 from its 1955 estimates, bringing the new gross budget to $177,428, which is $1,000 over 1954 estimates.

Actual cost of operating the service last year was $164,247.

Proposed expenditure of $20,000 for books was reduced $2,000. Last year the board spent $20,365 for book additions.

Library Board Takes Steps To Hire Expert

First steps in bringing an expert here to study possibility of an intermunicipal union library were taken by the Victoria Library Board Friday.

A committee of board chairman James Neely, Prof. Robert Wallace and Frank Mulliner was empowered to select an expert, bringing him here for talks on costs of a survey, then report findings to the intermunicipal committee.

A library official told the Times Tuesday that Seattle librarian John S. Richards would get the job.

But Friday, Aid. Curtis, city representative to the board, said, "I don't think we should stay with one name."

MUST BE NEUTRAL

"The person selected must be absolutely neutral," said Capt. D. J. Proudfoot.

Mr. Richards is still the only man so far named. He carried out a similar survey in Vancouver in 1949 and is internationally-known. He is president of the world-wide American Library Association.

BANKERS SURPRISED

Home Improvement Loans Fail to Draw Victorians

First Victoria bank to advertise new 5 1/2 per cent home improvement loans reported today that, so far, city home-owners haven't shown much interest.

"It is surprising how few inquiries have been made," said Bank of Commerce manager, J. C. Thow.

A recent federal government extension of the National Housing Act permits banks to loan funds for new roofs, furnace conversion, permanent landscaping, and all forms of inside and outside renovations.

Bank of Commerce was first local bank to advertise "come and get it." But since February 1, when the new deal started, requests have been few.

Officials point out that installment buying of building materials has meant paying carrying charges up to 20 per cent in the past. The NHA system can be offered by all banks at 5 1/2 per cent simple interest.

LESS EXPENSIVE

This means a home-owner can get the cash to pay for the job, and dicker with cash can result in a less expensive job. The system proved a huge success before the last war.

At that time, roofing and insulation companies, among other contractors, sent salesmen from door-to-door primed to explain the availability of low-interest money.

Tisdalle's Verbal Acrobatics Throw Legislature Into Uproar

By TOM GOULD

John D. T. Tisdalle (S-Saanich) raced through a one-and-a-half-hour speech in the Legislature Friday, bouncing from the gold standard, to funeral processions, to daffodils.

The cheerful Saanich member drew roars of laughter, yelps of delight, and several warnings from Speaker of the House Thomas Irwin as he quipped his way through a barrage of opposition heckling.

He quoted Ramsay MacDonald, condemned lotteries, criticized socialism, and when the legislative time-piece said "quarter-to-six," clapped his hands, and said "now we'll continue with Saanich. There's just enough time left."

Mr. Tisdalle ran into a spot of trouble with the Speaker when he quoted an enormous volume to back up some point he had made concerning the gold standard.

IRRELEVANT

The Speaker rose, and told him to stop, because the subject matter was entirely irrelevant to the budget debate.

"But Mr. Speaker," complained the Saanich member, "here's money in that budget."

Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson was so convulsed with laughter he almost dropped out of his seat.

At another interruption from the Speaker, Mr. Tisdalle looked sad, and said: "I was on monetary reform, and I was just about to come out with a pungent gem."

QUALIFIED TO SPEAK

Mr. Tisdalle talked of education. "Some people may say I don't know enough about the subject," he said, "but I have studied education, and feel qualified to talk about it."

"I am reminded of another great educationist..." he started, but again the laughter of the entire House, including Premier Bennett, prevented him from continuing.

The Saanich MLA asked for "legislation to stop people from going through car windshields when they are sitting in the suicide seat." When the laughter subsided, he explained he wanted laws to enforce the installation of safety belts in all automobiles.

He criticized persons who advocate legalization of lotteries.

"I believe charity should not be bound by chance," he said. "I don't believe good works should be left to chance."

He asked members of the House to stop asking for more and more liquor outlets. "Anyone can go down the drain, let us talk here about good things, good health laws, things that will build up good."

When adjournment time rolled around, some members were loathe to quit, and voted against the adjournment motion.

Government Tests Night-Set Trawls For Gull Herring

VANCOUVER (CP)—Trials of a mid-winter herring trawl in B.C. coastal waters showed successful night-sets on schools of herring in the lower Strait of Georgia.

A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of the fisheries department here, said Friday night the new method of night-sets will benefit small operators.

He said the usual method of purse-seiners near the surface is more suitable for large boats.

The experiment in night-sets was conducted jointly by the Fisheries Research Board of Canada and the B.C. fishing industry.

Mr. Gibson's Victory

LAST TUESDAY MR. GIBSON made certain grave charges in the Legislature. The Bennett Government ignored them. The Premier ostentatiously left the House with a gesture deliberately insulting and his ministers hardly listened to Mr. Gibson's speech.

Then suddenly, next day, the Government discovered from the newspapers what it should have heard in the House and was outraged. It demanded a retraction from Mr. Gibson. When he refused, he was "named" by the Speaker and forced to leave his seat.

But that night the Government evidently had second thoughts. It decided to appoint a royal commission on Mr. Gibson's charges and he was invited to return to the House. The Government had beaten a hasty and undignified retreat.

Obviously it had failed to understand or else had distorted the historic procedures of any British parliament in excluding Mr. Gibson from the Legislature. Any member is entitled to make charges against any government. Indeed, the history of parliament, from King Charles' time onward, is largely a history of private members protesting the acts of government and demanding full inquiry.

Thus Mr. Gibson was well within his rights when he voiced his allegations against the Bennett Government. It is true, of course, that under parliamentary rules a member must not impute motives to any other member under ordinary circumstances. But when he is prepared to make a definite charge, to demand an investigation and to prove his statements, he must not be suppressed. This the Bennett Government apparently realized after twenty-four hours' consideration and finally did what it should have done in the first place.

Judge Lord of Vancouver is an admirable choice as royal commissioner—a lawyer of long experience, a judge of the highest integrity and a man respected by the entire bench and bar. We may be sure that before him Mr. Gibson will have every opportunity to prove his point.

Now that the case is sub judice any comment on it would be improper, but assuredly the Government has cut a sorry figure so far and Mr. Gibson has won a notable one-man victory over an entrenched and arrogant majority.

A Little Closer to the Vision

THE OBSERVANCE OF BROTHERHOOD Week will start tomorrow. At the same time Victoria Rotarians will attend a special church service marking the opening of Rotary's Golden Anniversary year.

The two occasions seem wholly compatible. Brotherhood Week seeks to encourage the understanding and appreciation of man for man. Similarly, Rotary, in the fourth of its great principles, attempts "the advancement of international understanding, good will and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service."

These, then, are the harmonious ingredients which go into the creation of two major movements, the one a service club, the other an unrestricted, less clearly defined attitude toward humanity.

It would be fatuous to suggest that Brotherhood Week and the opening of Rotary's anniversary represent the general spirit of the world today. They do not. Tensions exist at this time seldom equalled at any period of history free from actual warfare.

Neither Rotary nor the ideal of brotherhood has reconciled the conflicting forces of the current world. They could not be expected to achieve that miracle. But if they have not brought about the day when the lion shall lie with the lamb, they nevertheless serve a purpose of transcendent importance.

In an age of hostility, both represent the vision of things which might be. They do more. They offer simple, straight forward patterns of the means by which a far better, far finer society might be created.

They seek, in their own particular ways, to point to the common desires of man to live in peace and friendliness with his neighbors in a neighborhood which embraces the world.

Perhaps this is visionary. Certainly the events of the day make it appear so. Yet though the dream is not realized, it remains clearly outlined as the objective. Those who fix their eyes on it, the practical men, will not expect perfection. If, in the course of the ensuing observances they can walk a little closer to their objective, then will they have made progress—a small advance, but one which makes the vision a little clearer, the ultimate goal not quite so distant as it would be without men of good will to recognize it.

Chasing a Bridge or Rainbow?

VICTORIA'S TAXPAYERS WILL have noted with interest Mayor Harrison's plan to go to Ottawa to ask the federal authorities "point blank" for assistance in building a new Point Ellice Bridge.

The citizens' primary concern, of course, is the construction of a new span. If anyone wants to build it for them, so much the better.

But if the mayor is basing his hopes for federal help on a conversation with Mr. Bennett—"I've been in touch with the premier. The upshot is that Ottawa should be asked point blank what it will do"—then Mr. Harrison seems to build his bridge expectations on very insecure footings.

Mr. Bennett is in no position to speak for Ottawa. He is, however, in a strategic position to make political capital on the matter.

There should be little objection to the mayor, or any other civic official, journeying to Ottawa if the prospective results of such a trip promise substantial benefits for Victoria.

On the other hand, should the project turn out to be a wild-goose chase, the public will probably recall an earlier stand taken by the mayor. They may remember his complaint against people making trips to do business that could be accomplished as well as by the expenditure of a few cents in stamps.

LOOKING OVER MY SHOULDER

Duff Pattullo---A Battle for Principle

TWENTY-FIVE years ago this week in Victoria the weather was about the same as now—fair and cold and occasional snow. Hon. T. D. Pattullo was enjoying himself putting up a terrific battle in the Legislature against the summary dismissal of Norman Watt, at one time his private secretary, from the post of government agent at Prince Rupert. After weeks of discussion the former Liberal premier won his point.

When the government agreed to reinstate Watt, Duff sat back in his chair and chuckled. It was the principle involved, not the job, he told the House. Watt didn't want the job back. Within a couple of weeks after Finance Minister Shelly had hastily dismissed him he was snapped up by private industry at a much larger salary.

City Council, Chamber of Commerce and CPR had their heads together over building a combined arena and skating rink at Belleville and Douglas at a cost of $350,000. In the limelight on the project were Maj. H. C. Holmes, G. H. Stevens, Frank Waring and Harold Palmer.

So that all the youngsters wanting to learn to swim could get in the act the Victoria Times increased its daily classes from 50 to 100. As now, C. F. Ellison was instructor at the Crystal. Bowling for the Rogue's team at retired printer Charlie Chislet's Arcade Bowling Alley were Cy Williams, now with the CNR Telegraph; Reg Wood, still a popular musician around Victoria; Steve Barclay, Les Fox, now managing editor of the Times and Pete Salloway of the telegraph desk.

Provincial Government decided to close the industrial loans department. Commissioner Don Martyn, left jobless, moved to Seattle and became a highly successful insurance man.

Maj. F. V. Longstaff, for the Victoria Historical Society presented two old-time British warship pictures to Government House.

Retired plumber, Bob Smith was an active member of the City Council and being charged for sponsoring a plumbing by-law which critics said was so tight a householder could get a life sentence for putting on a washer instead of calling a tradesman in for the job.

HIGH EMOTIONS

According to an "Across the Bay" column the Legislature "had another day of high emotions, low insinuations and hysterics in the government benches." The column, appearing under the initials H. B. W.—the writer's initials reversed—was the forerunner of "Loose Ends."

New Fox trots advertised by Fletcher's, "Springtime in the Rockies," "Happy Days Are Here Again," "Sunny Side Up" and "Turn on the Heat."

NO GOLDEN NEMATODE

Your issue of February 15th carried a news story under the heading "Horticulturists Fear Dreaded Disease Here" and which read in part:

"Fears were expressed by provincial horticulturists today that one of the most dreaded plant diseases, known as 'golden nematode', has been found for the first time in British Columbia."

"The disease which originates in Europe attacks potatoes." I wish to state, explicitly and emphatically, the story has no foundation in fact. Horticulturists of this department and pathologists of the Canada Department of Agriculture have, at no time, expressed any such fears. There has, at no time, been any suspicion that the "golden nematode" was to be found anywhere in British Columbia.

Will you be good enough to give this letter the fullest publicity in order to offset, as far as possible, the very serious harm your story has done to agriculture in British Columbia.

WM. MACGILLIVRAY,
Deputy Minister,
B.C. Department of Agriculture.

FIRST CAUSES

Mrs. Sherman, in her letter in Saturday's Times, tells us that we, the human inhabitants of this tiny speck in the universe which we call earth, are the only beings in the universe who are able to create.

She begins of course with a fallacy. Man cannot create; he can only use existent matter and develop its inherent potentialities.

But supposing man could create, how does Mrs. Sherman know that he is the only being in the universe able to do so? She asks for free discussion, but free discussion must be reasonable and does not include the right to make unreasonable claims to knowledge. How does she know that man occupies the pre-eminent place she gives him? And how about the possibility of powers on a different plane to man, intelligences not limited as ours are? In the environment in which we live man is of the highest order but this is no proof that in the vast reaches of the universe there may not be beings of a higher order.

Man has discovered, somewhat to his dismay, something of the potentialities of fissionable matter. And reasoning back from effect to cause scientists are recognizing more than at one time they did a Power behind the Universe.

Mrs. Sherman, and those of similar leanings would like to get rid of every thing that man cannot recognize with his physical senses. Is this a reasonable attitude? When faced with the powers inherent in matter which man is now getting a glimpse of, is it not most reasonable to think that they do not just happen to be there?

LOOSE ENDS

AS usual when I have been out of town for a while my neighbor, Mrs. Alfred Noggins, kindly briefed me on events occurring in my absence. I found her very angry.

"Why," said she, "is a burnin' shame indeed the way they've bin treatin' poor Mr. Gundy, as if 'e 'adn't bin treated bad enough already by the voters."

"Yes, they've bin attackin' poor Gundy jest as if 'e was a politician when everybody knows 'e 'as nothin' to do with the govern'mint and is only a innocent spectator."

"There 'e was, standin' on Governor Street waitin' fer a bus and absent-mindedly writin' Mr. Bennett's budget to kill time, and along comes the Bank of Commerce and offers 'im a ride. So nacherally 'e took it. Wot's wrong with that I'd like to know?"

"EVERYBODY thort Social Credit didn't like the banks, but the bankers knew different. Like Gundy says, Social Credit 'as no quarrel with the banks. It only wants to exterminate 'em in the most friendly and respectful way."

Besides, Gundy is no Social Crediter anyways, but jest a frequent candidate of the party and a feller who occasionally 'elps out his old friend, Mr. Bennett, in some small chores like 'fixin' taxes and runnin' the govern'mint in 'is spare time."

"Fortunately the voters gave Gundy plenty of spare time so 'e can easily manage the business of the finance department and the bank without strainin' 'imself."

"Well, a lot of hignorant people got it into their 'eads that the govern'mint is now a branch of the bank, or 'the bank is a branch of the govern'mint, but that isn't true. There's no connection between 'em, not wotever."

"GUNDY merely borrows from the bank on be'alf of the govern'mint, and on be'alf of the bank 'e lends to the govern'mint, and you couldn't think of a neater arrangement. That's wot I call efficiency in public affairs. And any resemblance between Gundy, the banker, and Gundy the govern'mint, is purely coincidental. Like charity, Social Credit can be stretched to cover a multitude of skins."

"Anyways, Mr. Bennett jest can't govern without Gundy and if the voters 'aven't the sense to elect the one indispensable man so much the worse fer 'em. And now it turns out that the bank jest can't bank without 'im either. Everybody needs Gundy. And the danger is, if all this carpin' criticism keep up, that Gundy will up and quit and leave the govern'mint flat, and the bank flat, too, and the country paralyzed and Social Credit without the only man who really understands it."

"FER mark my words, Gundy is the only one who does. Why, ever since Alberta came to rest in Aberhart's bosom, the amachures of Social Credit 'as bin attackin' the banks as the source of original sin, as the snake in Eden, as the cause of Eve's downfall, and some of those fellers in Alberta was so honest in attackin' the bankers and their toadies that they put the attackers in jail."

"But Gundy knew from the beginnin' that Social Credit really loved the banks and as proof of Social Credit's sincerity 'e generously agreed to be a bank director. You can't be any more sincere than that."

"YES, Gundy proved the sincerity of Social Credit by provin' that it never meant wot it said and would never do wot it promised. There's no act of statesmanship and 'uman sacrifice so hinsicrin' since Joan of Arc."

"So nacherally Bennett trusts Social Credit with one 'and and Gundy with all this newspaper talk. They've all seen through Social Credit but the funny thing is that Social Credit 'asn't seen through them."

"But the trouble with the newspapers is they don't understand wot Bennett is really up to. Do you think a man like 'im is interested in the govern'mint of British Columbia, a tiny little province on the edge of nowhere?"

"NO, sir, fer Bennett Victoria is only a brief whistle stop on the way to Ottawa, a way station where you get off the train fer a sandwich and a cup of coffee. Bennett can run British Columbia with his left 'and but the right 'and is doin' 'igher and finer things fer Canada and Bennett 'as 'is eye trained right on the East Block and the Privy Council Chamber."

"Bel'n busy with 'is lifework of savin' Canada from the wicked bankers, Bennett can leave the small chores of govern'mint to Mr. Bonner and the real bankin' business to Gundy, and the people of British Columbia ort to be mighty grateful to get a three-man team like that fer a pittance."

"WHY, we've got the provincial govern'mint, and we've got the bank and we've got Gundy all rolled into one, the biggest bargain ever offered in politics, and besides, the whole thing will 'ave a 'uge turn-in value when Bennett changes the provincial flivver fer the new model in Ottawa."

"So we'd better stop shoutin' and leave Gundy and Bennett to do their work of salvation. Don't we want to be saved from the bankers and their toadies? Gundy, the banker, is the man to do it."

A PEEK AT PARLIAMENT

'Attack Me Tomorrow, I'm Too Ill Today'

MR. Garson, the minister of justice, related an incident in a speech recently that was a sidelight on the life of a cabinet minister. Here it is in his own words:

"On Thursday, Jan. 27, I was at home in bed trying to cure a bad cold when my office telephoned that a letter from Mr. Davie Fulton, the Conservative member for Kamloops, had just come in, saying that he was going to attack me in the House that afternoon."

"I immediately telephoned him saying: 'I am at home trying to get rid of this cold. How about attacking me tomorrow afternoon?' Mr. Fulton replied, 'Well, I am sorry; but since I am also attacking the prime minister, who is leaving for London tomorrow, I must do it today.' He made it clear that his attack concerned the tax rental agreements. Well, I got up, dressed and went to my office, got the text of my Selkirk by-election speech on the subject and took it with me into the House of Commons to await Mr. Fulton's attack."

SLIP OF THE TONGUE

His first day back in the Commons after attending the London conference of Commonwealth prime ministers saw Prime Minister St. Laurent trip over terminology. "Dominion" is one term he is not partial to and another is the word "imperial." Consequently when the prime minister inadvertently said that members could raise questions with respect to the "Imperial" conference there was a chuckle from more than one parliamentarian. The next day they turned to the paragraph in Hansard and found, as they expected, the word "imperial" had been changed to "Commonwealth."

TIME SAVER

Mr. Speaker Beaudoin meantime has made some rulings during the current session that may speed up its proceedings. The CCF in previous sessions has initiated debates designed to hold up the passage of divorce bills. The Socialist group adopted that procedure to attract attention to the fact that Parliament devoted much time and effort to divorce actions emanating largely from Quebec. At this session Mr. Speaker intervened when the CCF indicated it was prepared to follow similar tactics. Mr. Beaudoin said he simply was not going to allow debates on each and every one of 400 or more divorce bills that will be brought before Parliament at this session. Surprisingly, the speaker's ruling was not challenged and consequently many hours of the Commons' time will be saved to be devoted to other business.

REVOLT

Veteran Liberal member of the Commons, Hon. C. G. (Chubby) Power, does not like the restrictions attached to the new estimates committee and has said so in blunt language. Mr. Harris, the finance minister, explained that the decision whether or not an official of a department should appear before the committee and the degree to which he might be questioned would be the responsibility of the cabinet minister concerned. This got Mr. Power's back up. He joined with opposition members in criticizing the officers of the departments from being examined. Speaking from experience, Mr. Power suggested the ministers would encounter difficulties if they attempted to answer all the questions which an ingenious opposition might put to them. The honorable member knows whereof he speaks. Dean of the Commons, Mr. Power was minister of pensions and national health in 1935, postmaster in 1939, minister of the department of defense for air and associate minister of national defense in 1940. He quit the cabinet in 1944 during the conscription crisis.

ICI ON PARLE FRANCAIS

Headquarters of the National Film Board will be moving to Montreal in the near future. In preparation for the move French-speaking members of the board's staff are giving instruction in the French language to their English colleagues. No one is compelled to take the course, but many are taking advantage of this opportunity to acquire a working knowledge of Canada's other official language.

Hardly perennial for Parliament, a CCF proposal that the federal government provide grants to provinces for education, was rejected by the government on the grounds that it would be an invasion of provincial rights. It was the seventh straight year the Commons has debated such a motion. The motions have all been sponsored by Mr. Roy Knight, of Saskatoon, a high school principal.

He stressed that only through federal aid would school children be assured equal educational opportunities. The motion was "talked out." In other words, members were still debating it when the House adjourned for the day. Now it goes to the bottom of the order paper and will not likely come up again at this session.

Wool Report
The Tariff Board's report on the Canadian wool-cloth industry, tabled in Parliament last week, forecasts further mortalities among woolen mills in this country. It blames three factors for some mills going out of business and others being forced to close temporarily. They are shrinkage in total demand, downward trend of prices and rising costs of Canadian producers. The report will be referred to in debates many times before the present session comes to a close. It deals a blow to those advocating greater protection for the Canadian manufacturers and thereby strengthens the government in its fight to hold the line on tariffs. Western Liberals concurred in its conclusions.

Garden Goes to Lawn

LONDON—I've just been doing some gardening. That's not bad going for this time of the year, is it?

What prompted me to get out there into the garden was partly the mild weather... the early daffodils are on sale on the street barrows and this puts one in the mood for doing a bit of gardening... and partly the fact that I had been reading in a gardening column that this is the time to go to work on all those worm casts on your lawn.

It was news to me that you shouldn't roll them out flat—the grass can't grow up through the round pads of hard soil if you do that. Scatter the worm casts with a birch broom, the expert said. They have fertilizer value. So I've been out scattering.

Of course, about the sum total of our garden is the lawn. There are some rose bushes along the side walls but that's the extent of the flower department. When I first came here I used to put in all sorts of plants each spring; men come around with them on horse-drawn carts. But the smog in the air or something invariably got the better of them, so I gave up trying to grow flowers in London.

There are lots of nice gardens to be seen around here but they're doubtless the result of care and attention I'm not inclined to devote to that activity. So... each year I put more and more of the garden into lawn, dumping soil over pathways and every bit of vacant ground so that we can have the biggest possible stretch of grass. Growing grass in England is no problem whatsoever. Just put the seed in and the rain does the rest.

If she were here in London my mother would probably be quite ashamed of my taking the easy way out like this. My mother is a genuine gardening fanatic. I remember how she used to set the alarm for 2 o'clock in the morning so that she could go out into her garden with a flashlight to do some "slugging."

There are all sorts of preparations on the market for keeping slugs off plants but she always felt it was best to do the job personally. So out she would go in the middle of the night in nightdress and dressing-gown and catch the slugs by surprise when they thought they were living on the fat of the land.

Karel Capek, in that delightful little book "The Gardener's Year," said that no one could be rated as a real gardening enthusiast unless he went without shame out into the street with dustpan and brush after a horse had passed, to snaffle the precious manure. By that rating, my mother was a true blue gardening enthusiast.

She did a deal with the man who ran the stables at the end of our road and each Saturday morning he used to deliver a load of horse manure to us. Across the front of our house was a high hedge and the only entrance was a narrow gateway. He had no option but to dump it in the gateway.

When the first delivery was made my father, coming home from work, found that he had the choice of climbing over this mountain of manure or going off to have a cup of coffee until a pathway was cleared for him to get into the house. He forbade my mother from ever having any more delivered.

But a thing like that never holds back a really avid gardener such as my mother. From then on I was brought in as co-conspirator so that we both got the manure cleared from the gateway and distributed around the garden before my father got home. I remember as a kid on Saturday mornings hosing and scrubbing the front path after each delivery so that there would be no speck of evidence for my father to see my mother's perfidy.

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Annual Examinations

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

The other day Dr. E. P. Luongo, Medical Director of the General Petroleum Corporation, sent me a copy of the very interesting report describing what his group has accomplished through periodic physical examinations of 6,000 employees. Those under 40 are asked to come in every two years, while those over 40 are called in every year. Those who have certain defects may be called in every three or six months. Others are examined frequently because they are working in a job which has known occupational hazards.

A good company physician not only examines each man physically but he will ask tactfully how the fellow is getting along with his problems at home and on the job. Older employees who will soon be reaching retirement age are invited in to discuss their problems of learning to live on a lower income.

Dr. Luongo feels that of late there has been a tendency to over-emphasize the health problems of executives. It is just as important to take care of the health of clerks and laborers and stenographers, bookkeepers, and trained mechanics.

Often people say, "Well, supposing I do have a routine examination every year. What good will that do me? Supposing they find I have heart disease, or a high blood pressure, or bad kidneys, what can they do about it?" True, often the trouble cannot be cured, but often something can be done to prolong the person's active life. According to Dr. Luongo, during the years between 1948 and 1954, in the large group of people under his care the incidence of disabling or fatal blood vessel or heart disease has decreased 15 per cent. In men, the mortality from cancer of the internal organs has dropped 33 per cent; in women, the mortality from cancers of the breast and the pelvic organs has dropped 50 per cent; and disabling diseases of the digestive tract are now seen 20 per cent less frequently. In the last three years, many of the stout employees have been induced to reduce their weight.

There have been many fewer industrial accidents since the workmen have been well cared for, and there have been no serious illnesses due to diabetes. The cost to the company for repairing hernias has dropped 40 per cent, and the cost of attending to serious back injuries has been reduced 33 per cent. The incidence of occupational diseases of the skin has been reduced by 80 per cent.

Interesting was Dr. Luongo's statement about the many men who have psychological difficulties at home or at work. As he says, from 85 to 95 per cent of these employees can find a solution to their problems with the help of their foremen or supervisors, or the industrial physician, or some private physician, or their minister, or some friend. Any employee who can solve his emotional conflicts in this way has no need for bothering a psychiatrist.

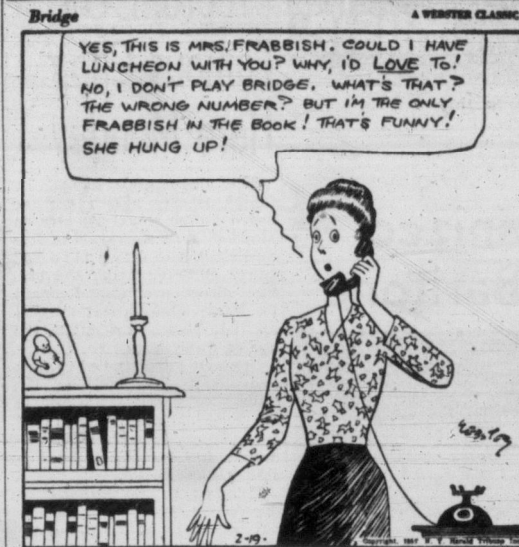

By helping the employees with their psychological problems the incidence of nervous breakdowns or disabling neuroses among the men has diminished 25 per cent during the six-year period.

This work has helped greatly, also, in reducing the incidence of nervous explosions between workers, or between the workers and the company. Men who know that their company is interested in their problems, and is anxious to help them, are not so likely to get sore, or to feel a lack of security, or a need for starting a conflict with their employees.

HONEST OPINION BEST

Since throughout all my medical life I have been teaching that it is best for a patient to be given an honest opinion even if it may shock him a bit, I am glad to see Dr. Luongo's statement that 95 per cent of the employees in his group prefer being told the truth; they prefer facing facts; they prefer this to living on in a false sense of security. Even when a man has a cancer, usually he wants to know it quickly, if only so that he can have time in which to put his house in order.

Another good point is that when the employees find that their company doctor is always honest with them, many lose much of their inborn tendency to hypochondriasis (an abnormal and foolish worry about their health). Then, when the doctor tells them that the examination just made has failed to show anything wrong, and that he is not worried, they are likely to go back to work.

'Spare a Buck'... Give to Polio Fund

Convalescing Victim Urges Victorians To Support Tonight's March on Polio

By AB KENT

It was in the September 1953 epidemic that Edgar Wadsworth, 45, 1035 Oliver, contracted polio, and he hasn't worked a day since.

The road to recovery has been long and arduous, the inactivity creating a restiveness and desire to resume a productive place in society.

Until this week Edgar Wadsworth was ready to go back to a job—any job that his slightly withered left leg would permit—but Monday after rehabilitation training at Jubilee Hospital, he slipped, cracking a bone in his weakened foot.

HELP ASSURED

This setback is costing him more independence, but he can be assured of one thing: help from B.C. Polio Fund.

Over the past 17 months the fund has assisted the Wadsworths in paying bills and in buying the necessities of life which Mr. Wadsworth is unable to earn.

"It is hard to put into words just how a person feels on having such wonderful help from the fund," he says.

The ex-precision machinist, who looks and talks younger than his years, spent two weeks in Jubilee isolation ward, then 11 months in Veterans' Hospital post-polio ward before he was allowed to go back home.

He could move about quite freely with the assistance of a crutch, until his accident this week, and even got around to driving his car, an accomplishment in which he took some pride.

HOBBIES

To take up the slack hours he turned to hobbies like bee-keeping, amateur wireless, watchmaking, engraving and woodworking. He makes most of his bee-keeping equipment, which results in some of the sweetest, tangiest honey on the island; builds his own radio apparatus, and turns out small items of costume jewellery.

The engraving, an unusual hobby, is explained by the fact that Mr. Wadsworth was a watchmaker before joining the RCAF to serve as a wireless operator in the Second World War.

He has been a radio enthusiast since 1922, when he built his own set and obtained ham license VETAD. In fact, since he will never be normally active again, he has been thinking of going into radio-TV repair work.

Since the war and until the fall of 1953, Mr. Wadsworth was a precision machinist at HMC Dockyard.

Through their close contact with polio, Bessie, Mr. Wadsworth's wife, and son Robert have done their part to combat the disease. The latter has taken gamma globulin shots as a preventative measure, and his mother is in charge of her area in Oak Bay for tonight's "Mothers' March on Polio."

"There is no way I can pin down where I got the most help, it has all been so great," Mr. Wadsworth says. "But I think the financial aid was one of the best parts."

"I couldn't have started to pay all those bills even with my wife working. There is also the moral support lent by the B.C. Polio Fund people. That helps a lot."

"If anyone has a dollar they don't know what to do with Saturday night, I suggest they give it to the fund. Give until it hurts."

'Why Make Children Suffer?' Douks Ask

Freedomite Group Tells Local Meeting Of Fight to Get Youngsters Back Home

By PETE LOUDON

It is now 33 days since the 27 mothers of Krestova have seen their children—and the long days haven't dried their tears.

Three of them sat on the stage of an almost empty hall in Esquimalt Friday night, weeping silently.

One stared fixedly at two toddlers who sat secure in the audience with their Victoria mothers.

A teenage choir, sniffing with colds that struck them as they reached the coast, chanted Russian hymns.

The audience was quiet; 25 people don't shuffle much.

Some were parents, one was a member of the legislature, Leo Nimsick of Kimberley.

The Doukhobours, about 19 in all, were representatives of the Sons of Freedom group in the Krestova-Grand Forks area, but disdained of the terrorists who use that name. Led by John Perepelkin, chairman of the Sons at Krestova and William Plotnikoff of Grand Forks they came here to speak for the children recently taken away by the RCMP.

Religious Symbols on Table

Joseph Podovnikoff from Hilliers chaired the meeting from a rostrum covered with a white tablecloth and bearing the religious symbols, a loaf of bread, a glass of water and a shaker of salt.

He brought testimonials from the mothers whose children are now held by provincial welfare authorities at New Denver.

They painted a picture that is hard to label Canadian. Yet the Doukhobour choir looked as Canadian as any group of Victoria teen-agers, the mothers like members of any local PTA. Maybe a bit more strained around the eyes.

The men, in white shirts, sporty shoes and trousers, resembled the men in the audience. The girls looked like nuns in white dresses, white silk, embroidered head scarves. They are a pretty group.

Used to Clashes With Police

Yet they described themselves as "used to clashes" with police, familiar with the smashing blow of water from a firehose. They are used to punishment because their religion forbids that their children should attend regular Canadian schools. "But why make the children suffer," they asked. Why bands of police entering their homes in the early hours as happened last January 18. Why the children pulled feet first from their beds. "Please Momma, don't let them take me!"

They say that is what happened, that they haven't "heard the voices of our children" since.

They hope that by telling their story enough public interest can be built up to return the children to their homes and force government action that will settle the problems facing them.

Not Sullen or Hostile

But none of the visiting Doukhobours were sullen or hostile. Mr. Podovnikoff spoke gently, reasonably and fluently as a school teacher.

He read statements of children, terrified by the raiding police, some running barefoot in the snow in their underclothes until the officers caught them, while mothers shrieked in horror. Over 40 children were taken, he said.

SHOCKED

He said the police action shocked the settlement. He blamed police for brutality, reporters for antagonism and sensationalism.

He held up as prime instigators of the incident B.C.'s attorney-general Robert Bonner and Emmett Gulley, United States Quaker and member of the coordinating committee on Doukhobor affairs.

Of the two, Mr. Gulley drew the most abuse. The whole problem, according to Mr. Pod-ovnikoff stems from the fact that Gulley "took advantage of the change in B.C. government to become official religious adviser on Douk affairs, against the wishes of those people."

It was charged that Gulley supported the B.C. "disregard" of the Doukhobour religious rights. "He says he loves the Doukhobours, and must save them by taking their children away and putting their parents in jail."

PRICE CUT BOOSTS SALES OF MILK

ARMSTRONG (CP)—SODICA, one of three dairies distributing milk in Kamloops, finds milk sales increasing with lower prices.

R. Freese, a director of the co-operative, says milk sales are up to and beyond expectations, although he denied his organization has at any time entered a price war.

Mr. Freese said 3.5 milk at 20 cents in Kamloops was gaining farmers a better price and better returns.

Price-cutting did not start in Kamloops, director Jack Armstrong of Armstrong Cheese Cooperative said.

"It seems a ridiculous situation and in the process of this competition both organizations are going to lose money," he said.

Play Sparks Interest in Tudor Queen

Production of "The Young Elizabeth" by Victoria College Players' Club, scheduled for Friday and Saturday in the Ewing Building, has sparked a fever of research into the history of Tudor England on the part of a number of college students outside the engrossed circle of actors and production staff.

This chronicle play, the result of a collaboration between two contemporary authors, tells of the budding of the Tudor Rose and produced in the round or arena style, gives many intimate glimpses of the life of Elizabeth and those who loved and served her.

In charge of ticket sale is Marilyn Bassett, who also attends most rehearsals and keeps the cast vocally "on their toes," by announcing frankly from time to time that she "can't hear a word."

With Pat Gray as Elizabeth Tudor and Marjorie Gilbert as Mary Tudor, other members of the cast are Merlin Hawes, Heather Manson, John Gittens, Lorne Paine, Margaret Dobrocky, Robert Warren, Barbara Jenkins, Heather Macdougall, Lynn Sheldrake, Bill Carpenter, Louis Warren, Russell Gurney, George Cummings, Bill Woodbury, and Allen Newberry. Mrs. Flora Nicholson of St. Luke's Players, is director.

AUDREY SAYS

Scholarship Fund Organized To Launch Promising Baritone

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

We are a fortunate race of people here in Canada. Our young people from all walks of life have a fair and equal chance in education. At least along routine lines they have the opportunity of developing routine skills.

Where "frills" have been provided they have been severely frowned upon by taxpayers.

Quite properly, the higher education of the universities from the public point of view, has been reserved for those who warrant it through the winning of various government, industrial and club bursaries and scholarships.

For the really brilliant student without means, a university career is possible, though still not as surely available as could be wished.

But now we come to the youth with non-routine gifts. There is the youngest with a decided aptitude for painting and design. For example, or the one who shows extraordinary talent for the stage; or even the pianist, the violinist or singer!

It occurs to me that indifference to the development of such gifts on the part of educational bodies heretofore, has simply been another reflection of our materialistic age. Small returns might be expected to accrue to the talented one, unless his skill was such that it waited him to one of the very few perches at the top of his particular tree. So why bother to allocate funds for his advanced education?

This concept is much changed today, however, particularly in the last two categories—those of the actor and musician. A major improvement has been brought about through television.

Television is putting our actors, writers, artists and musicians to work, so whatever you think of the results, must be welcomed for something more than its face value.

ESTABLISHED FIRM PLACE

Certainly for the practical-minded man, invited to contribute toward an arts scholarship fund, there should be satisfaction in the realization that arts have now found a firm place in our scheme of things and are able to give off a quite respectable odor of money.

Here in Victoria we have several organizations that have striven to assist gifted young musicians to carry their education to the threshold of a career. They have had the reward of seeing the goal realized in one or two instances.

But opportunities of specialized education for those with certain non-routine abilities still lag far behind.

And it is to fill such a gap that individuals group together to create a fund like the "Stanley Martin Scholarship Fund."

A musical career which could stretch all the way from great personal satisfaction plus adequate income, to international fame and fortune, lies almost within his grasp.

There are only two hurdles to clear—sufficient money to provide him with further study in a big musical centre, and hard work! As to his ability in the latter case, those who know him best have no qualms.

So, there being no large public grants to deal with such cases as Stanley Martin's, the responsibility lies elsewhere.

It is, in fact, a responsibility that should be proudly assumed. Not all of us can be endowed with gifts that delight and brighten the world in which we live. But occasionally all of us are privileged to assist those who are.

The recital to be given by Mr. Martin on March 1 is such an opportunity. Total proceeds of the event will be devoted to his scholarship fund.

And if you happen to arrive late at the Metropolitan Church where the concert is being held, and can't be squeezed in (I sincerely trust the church will be overflowing that night) don't give up but send your ticket money to Mrs. Ingram Smith, 1271 King's Road, who is receiving contributions to the Stanley Martin Fund.

Program For Famous Choir Here Monday

The thrilling De Paur Infantry Chorus which will be heard at the Royal Theatre on Monday, is an aggregate of fine musicians with exceptional voices gathered under the brilliant direction of Capt. Leonard De Paur, whose great musical aptitude became evident at the age of three.

Capt. De Paur studied various instruments as well as the human voice and while still in his teens joined the famous Hall Johnson choir, with which he toured and eventually became assistant conductor.

Enlisting in the Infantry in the Second World War, he was put in charge of the 372nd Infantry glee club, which had started life with a bit of close harmony at Fort Dix. That was the beginning of the new de-servedly famous choir which can outsing any male chorus on the continent today.

GRUBER CONDUCTS

Concertmaster Rejects Call to Greater Field

Speaking of unsung heroes of this or the other concert (vide last Saturday's article) one musician who invariably falls into this category is the concertmaster of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

Mr. Evens is about to complete his fifth season with us in that all-important post. The fact that he has stayed with us so long should be a source of no little pride to the rest of us of the orchestra, and to all those who closely follow the work of the orchestra. Mr. Evens, let us remind ourselves anew, is a young musician of far from ordinary attainments. He is, beyond question, one of the foremost exponents of violin playing in Canada today. This is not only my own opinion—it is not merely an opinion at all, but a fact recognized by authorities far more eminent than myself. Sir Ernest MacMillan had quite a bit to say about him at the time of his rather historic guest appearances with our orchestra last June. When he heard the play-back of Mr. Evens' performance of Beethoven's violin concerto which he played here during the 1953-1954 season, he was fairly speechless for a while (as he was, incidentally, when he heard the tape recording of the Mozart clarinet concerto which Stanley McCartney played; Mr. Waddington's reactions were similar upon hearing Carol McCartney's performance of Lalo's Symphonie Espagnole.)

That is not all.

AN OPEN INVITATION

Mr. Evens has been, for many years now, a summer student of the man who must be designated as possibly the finest living concertmaster, Joseph Gingold of the Cleveland Orchestra. As long as four years ago, I had it from Mr. Gingold himself that any chair in the first violin section of the Cleveland Orchestra except the concertmaster's is his for the asking, and that under the unprecedented condition of no further audition for Conductor Szell being necessary.

What this means may be still better appreciated when George Gobel (NBC-TV): Nothing I like as well as going to that all-girl gas station. Jack Carson: Me, too. Gobel: Yes, but you have a car.

Glee Club Due Next Saturday

L. W. MONK

Leslie W. Monk is conductor of the B.C. Electric Glee Club of Vancouver, a group of about 30 female voices. During the past three years they have rapidly come to the fore as one of the better ladies' choral groups now performing in British Columbia.

The Glee Club will present a concert in Victoria next Saturday, Feb. 26, at First Baptist Church, sponsored by the Young Couples' Club. They will be assisted by Richard McDermid (tenor), Doreen Cunningham (contralto) and Betty Smith (soprano).

Eighteen-year-old accordionist, Ronnie Pajala, a highlight of last year's Victoria concert by the group, will also appear. Tickets may be obtained at Victoria Music Centre, View Street.

Rebellion Novel For Juveniles

Sixth of Series
On Canadian Theme

Edward McCourt, whose novel "Home is the Stranger" (1947) received extensive attention from readers and reviewers, has written the sixth book in Macmillan's Juvenile series, "The Great Stories of Canada."

"Buckskin Brigadier," which will be published in March, is the story of the Rebellion of 1855, and of Maj. Gen. Tom Strange, a rancher who lived near Calgary and is the "buckskin brigadier" of the title. It was Tom Strange who organized the Alberta Field Force after the Cree massacre of the white settlers at Frog Lake and eventually put down the rebellion.

Edward McCourt, who relates the story with interest and accuracy, spent his boyhood on an Alberta homestead just a few miles from Frog Lake; he knew and talked with William Cameron, the only white survivor of the massacre.

"Buckskin Brigadier" will be similar in length and format with the five published titles in the Great Stories of Canada series, and will have about 20 illustrations in color and in black and white by Vernon Mould.

EDGE OF THE LONG RUN—sketch by Tom Thomson in the Gallery's Group of Seven Show.

ART in REVIEW

By COLIN GRAHAM

Art movements are not capable of spontaneous combustion; they always have their antecedents. To say that the painters of the Group of Seven grew out of impressionism and post-impressionism is therefore in no way to belittle their achievement.

But the question of the exact extent of their indebtedness is as complex as it is intriguing.

BEGAN IN 1913
The year 1913 can be set as the one in which the group's style, in so far as it can be said to have a common style, first began to take shape. It was the year of Jackson's "Terre Sauvage," evidently the first canvas in which the characteristic bold simplifications of landscape pattern made their appearance.

Now four years prior to that Jackson had returned from study in Paris where he had fully absorbed the techniques of impressionism and had also come to know the work of the post-impressionist Cezanne, and probably also that of Van Gogh and Gauguin. But since his work immediately on returning to Canada showed the influence of the more conservative side of impressionism, it must have been the Ontario "North Country" to which Tom Thomson introduced him in 1913 that set him going, plus the example of Lawrence Harris and J. E. H. MacDonald in searching for a purely indigenous Canadian style.

SPARKED BY CONTRASTS
One would guess, then, that it was primarily the problem of rendering the very un-European clarity of atmosphere, the strong pattern contrasts and the often incredible seasonal changes of color in the wilds north of Toronto that fundamentally sparked the movement. But it is most unlikely that the group's work would have looked as it does had not Jackson and others in the movement been able to draw on the techniques of impressionism and post-impressionism.

The development of Tom Thomson as a proto-member of the group (he died before it was formally created in 1920), sets probably the most intriguing question of all.

Recently Dr. Jackson assured me there were no reproductions of the work of Cezanne, Van Gogh or Gauguin to be seen in Toronto in 1913 and, of course, no actual examples of their work. Since he never traveled east to Toronto, Thomson's style can only have been influenced by two indirect sources: the work of the first Canadian impressionists Cullen and Suzor-Cote (if he ever saw it), and the techniques passed on to him by Jackson and other members of the group who had studied in Europe: Harris, Lismer and Varley.

LIKE A VAN GOGH
Thomson could not have had the remotest idea of what a Van Gogh actually looked like. Yet Dr. Jackson also told me of the recent discovery of a Thomson sketch of a forest ranger, done just before his death in 1917, which is curiously like a late Van Gogh.

Evidently Thomson developed a long way entirely on his own.

Irish Folklore
Padraic Colum, who has been writing about Ireland since he went to the United States in 1914, has come up with a marvelous potpourri in "A Treasury of Irish Folklore" (Crown), poetry, songs, legends, histories.

His collection is more than 600 pages and it is crammed with such things as the story of the shillelagh which is named for the place where great oaks once grew (the modern shillelachs are more often made of black thorn), tales of banshees and leprechauns; traditional recipes for the Irish potato and the story of Donnybrook Fair.

MILTON BERLE (NBC-TV): My brother used to be a lawyer in a sardine factory. It was his job to get the fish out of the can.

BOOK TALK

By JAMES SCOTT

Vancouver native son, Robert T. McKenzie, seems to be aiding and abetting considerable confusion among the more staid of the British book reviewers with the overseas publication of his "British Political Parties." Opined the staid economist, "this book is a classic" only to be refuted by the opposition. The New Statesman and Nation, which said, "This able book will mislead the next generation both at home and abroad."

Mr. McKenzie, who used to be heard over the CBC, is now teaching at the London School of Economics and is a frequent commentator on political affairs over the BBC.

What with the problem of racial segregation coming to a head in the province of Ontario with charges of racial discrimination being heard in the courts, Lillian Smith's latest, "Now Is the Time," should be particularly pertinent. Unlike her previous work ("Strange Fruit" is the best known) this is not a novel but a short sharp history of the problem. The theme is summed up neatly in the following quote from the book: "How long can a democracy segregate a group of its citizens without destroying its own integrity? . . . Affirmals may go it alone; men cannot. However different or alike we may be, we need one another. We belong together."

The book is published in Canada today.

Great Stories of Canada

The next addition to the Great Stories of Canada series, published by Macmillan, will come from the Prairies. Edward G. McCourt, a native of Alberta who now teaches English at the University of Saskatchewan, tells the story of Major-General Tom Strange who organized the Alberta Field Force after the massacre of the white settlers of Frog Lake by the Cree Indians.

Due in March, this addition to the Canadian chronicle will be called "Bristles and Brushes." He has just written "The Barley and the Stream," 398 pages chronicling the story of the Melson family of Montreal and—you guessed it—he calls it "a footnote to Canadian history."

Real Canadian History

For my money this is no footnote to our history. It is Canadian history. In fact, I would say that this is one of the most informative and readable books about the early days of Canada's industrial expansion which I have ever read.

In the first place, I am all in favor of Canada's great families and great industrial concerns having their story told. I am not at all disturbed by any so-called taint of commercialism which some of the more tender of us might look for. The development of our industry, our philanthropy and our powerful business families is just as important as the chronicle of political activities which we mistakenly seem to consider the only facet of reputable history.

This is particularly true when the job is done by a first-rate writer such as Merrill Denison. To tell the truth, I learned as much history from the first 200 pages of this book as I have seen in any recent volume about Canada. The last 200 pages are good, too, but I knew more about that period.

Altogether this is a very worthy contribution to our literature and history. It is too impressive to be called a footnote.

"Twice Have the Trumpets Sounded" by Robertson Davies, Grant Macdonald and Tyrone Guthrie; Clarke, Irwin Co., Toronto.

The story of the second Stratford Shakespearean Festival which, according to director Tyrone Guthrie, was better than that of 1953, is presented in "Twice Have the Trumpets Sounded."

Robertson Davies, essayist and playwright; Grant Macdonald, artist, and Tyrone Guthrie, director, who collaborated in the book "Renown at Stratford" on the initial festival, have again joined forces.

ANALYZES PRODUCTION
Robertson Davies in writing about the three plays presented in 1954 and Dr. Guthrie's rehearsal methods brings to the job experience in both drama and scholarship. These longer essays discuss the plays and analyze the production.

Whether one was able to attend the 1954 festival or not the essays make good reading and Davies' interpretation of the plays is illuminating.

Grant Macdonald increased the number of paintings and drawings for this second book to 28 pages in color and six in black and white, all of the actors.

ASSESSES FUTURE
Tyrone Guthrie's contribution is an assessment of the future of the festival. He argues in favor of a program of classical rather than contemporary plays for the sake of both actors and audiences and he includes interesting comments on differences between Canadian and British actors and on Canadian speech.

THE STAMP CORNER

By REG NAIRNE

The Greater Victoria Philatelic Society, one of our two flourishing stamp clubs, was originally founded to develop interest among the city's younger collectors. Until lately, however, the junior membership has been falling off.

Three months ago, Lester Small, one of the members, decided to do something about it, and re-organized the junior branch of the society so successfully that new quarters will soon have to be founded to accommodate the meetings. At present these are held at 725 Courtney Street (across from the RCMP) at 7 p.m. on the fourth Friday of each month. Adults meet at 8.

NEW ERROR TO LOOK FOR

Canadian specialists are having a hunt through any accumulations of the current 10¢ with the "G" overprint that they can come across, for there is a new error to look for. On the normal stamp the initial is struck in the middle of the stamp, but a few copies have been found in the east with the "G" far over to the left. Apparently a sheet or two were inadvertently run through the press when it was set up to overprint the 50¢ stamp, which has the surcharge at the left side.

FOILED COLLECTORS

This is the second misprinting of this stamp. It will be recalled that a couple of years ago some sheets turned up with the "G" missing on one stamp in the pane of 50. Unfortunately for collectors, the government recalled all such sheets back to Ottawa where they were destroyed. The writer knows of one government office that had nearly 40 sheets with the missing "G," but was unable to argue the official in charge into even allowing one block of four showing the error to be purchased!

To a collector, destroying these rarities is something akin to smashing the Portland Vase!

FIX-IT FORUM

Q: The walls of our unheated upstairs rooms sweat in winter. Can you tell us how to stop that?—Mrs. F.C.K.

A: Water vapor generated by cooking, bathing, clothes drying, etc., may be condensing on the cold walls. Ventilating the rooms is one answer. It's also possible that, if your basement is warmer than the rest of the house, moisture there is being evaporated and carried to the upper parts of the house by convection currents. In which case you might take steps to cool the basement.

BEASTALL SAYS

When Garden Madness Strikes Rest Comfortably in Arm Chair

Premature Activity in Spring Can Lead to Lot of Wasted Effort

Each spring a malady of epidemic proportions strikes the population on the west coast of Canada.

It is not spring fever, in fact, its symptoms are the opposite. It is not by any means fatal, although its effects are far-reaching and their full impact is not felt until much later in the season.

It can be contracted within the next four to six weeks by anyone having a piece of garden. It is both contagious and infectious, and it strikes with varying degrees of intensity. Lacking an official name, we call it gardening fever.

EARLY SYMPTOMS

An early Jack Beastall symptom is the desire to make a premature start on the garden. This is followed by catastrophies, an inflammation of the mind caused by gazing too long at colored pictures of vegetables and flowers, and resulting in the purchase of unreasonable amounts of seed.

In the more advanced stages the patient develops a form of madness expressed by frantic digging, raking and sowing, with no thought of how such large quantities of produce can be consumed, or where the thousands of flowering plants can be set out.

Later in the year, when balmy summer days abound, when fishing and holiday trips beckon, the fever resolves into gardenfobia, a fear or dread of being tied to daily gardening chores.

ROUTINE HELPS

Fortunately, the severity of the attack can be lessened if the routine outlined below is followed.

At the first symptoms the patient should rest quietly in a comfortable chair and give serious consideration to the quantity of fruit and vegetables the family can reasonably consume in a week. When one lettuce a day will suffice it is useless to have 50 heads maturing at one time. Should the family consume but one cabbage a week, only four plants will be needed for a month's supply.

Having thus quieted the mind with rational thinking, the next step is to set up a progress chart, sometimes called a garden plan. It differs from the regular hospital chart in that it expresses the future rather than recording the past.

BUT IT'S NOT BAD

Once the chart has been set up, it should be followed closely during the ensuing months because serious deviation can complicate the malady.

As the fever lessens, the patient may be permitted to read a few seed catalogues with the idea of selecting varieties which will mature in succession and thus extend the harvesting season. The lower the patient's temperature at this stage, the better.

As with measles and mumps, this gardening fever strikes during the early years of gardening and all gardeners seem to have suffered to some degree. Although it causes mental anguish, frustration and poor results for the labor expended, it isn't really unpleasant in any stage.

WEEK'S GARDEN WORK

Start Outside Planting

By JACK BEASTALL
Sow seed indoors of ornamental annual grasses.

Sow sweet peas outdoors in prepared bed. Or plant out those raised in pots or bands. Be sure to harden plants to outside conditions first.

Plant flowering perennials (aconitum, aster, liliatris, physostegia, solidago) may be lifted, divided and replanted if necessary, and if soil is not too wet. Sow a few broad beans outdoors.

Sow indoors, seed of eggplant and sweet pepper for growing in cold frame during summer. Proceed with pruning of fruit trees.

Prune the shrub buddleia; cut back each branch to one foot from origin for low growing specimen. For high specimen, prune all side growths to within two buds of branches.

Prune Jasminum nudiflorum (winter flowering jasmine) when last blooms have faded. Shorten all flowering shoots.

Bloom is borne on new growth made this spring and summer.

Q: What is done about a faucet leak when water comes out around the valve stem while the faucet is turned on?—J.L.

A: The packing nut is either loose or the packing worn in most cases of this trouble. First see if the nut is tight. (The packing nut is the one on top of the faucet through which the "valve stem" protrudes). If it's tight and still leaks, remove the nut and insert new packing. String may be used in an emergency for packing.

Establishment in Victoria of a new credit union which would function for the benefit of employees of some of its member firms is being considered by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce. A committee, headed by Reg Wilde, is exploring the suggestion. It is considered about 300 medium-sized firms might be interested in participating. Industry Eyes Urban Centres

Industry in Manitoba will spread out into the urban centres of the province within the next few years, industry and commerce minister R. B. Turner predicted today.

Businessmen will find that operating in the many modern centres throughout the province will help them to lower production costs, he said in a press statement here.

Turner added, however, that the initiative, vigor and imagination must come from local government officials if industrial decentralization is to become a reality.

Urban communities are specially concerned with industrial development because it is the greatest single creator of job opportunities, outranking finance, trade and professions by a wide margin, Turner said.

The minister warned against the temptation to grant special concessions as a means of attracting industry. A desirable industry, he said, expects to carry its fair share of community costs.

Heading for her final resting place, the S.S. Ticonderoga slides onto cradles resting on double railroad tracks.

Famed Steamer Takes Final Trip on Rails

Retired after 49 years of service on Lake Champlain, the S.S. Ticonderoga is making her last voyage—a two-mile trip on dry land.

At its end is a permanent "anchorage" on the lawn of the Shelburne Museum at Shelburne, Vermont.

To get there from Lake Champlain's Shelburne Bay, a huge drydock of earth had to be bulldozed around the vessel. When this was completed water was pumped in so to raise the 900-ton vessel to ground level.

Waiting for her were two 16-wheeled cradles, resting on 400 feet of especially laid double tracking. The ship is moved the length of the tracks and they are picked up and laid again in front of her. Engineers say it will take two months to complete the move across two highways, a swamp, through woods and over a railroad track.

Last of Lake Champlain's sidewheelers, the Ticonderoga in her day carried more than a million passengers and traveled the equivalent of 50 trips around the world.

At the museum, she will be placed next to the Colchester Reef lighthouse, also recently removed from Lake Champlain.

DIFFICULTIES EXPLAINED

Vs See Light; Deny Complaint

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Penticon Vs, Canada's candidates for world hockey honors, are finally beginning to see "a little daylight through the trees" after four confusing days in Germany.

That was the word Friday from team manager Glen Bird, his temperature back to normal following a mysterious switch in travel plans which set 18 players down in a strange city which didn't even know they were coming.

"When we left London on Monday," Bird explained in a telephone interview from Berlin, "we thought we were going to stay in Dueseldorf, and that's where the fun started, and we made all our plans on that basis."

"But when we got there we were told to go to Berlin, and that's where the fun started. In Berlin, nobody knew about us, and there we were, without a clue."

Behind in Dueseldorf were the team's warm clothing, electric razors, mail and half a ton of hockey equipment.

"It was very, very difficult at first," Bird added, "but now we've got our problems all straightened out, things should be okay."

He said it should be stressed "to the people of Canada" that the team had no complaints whatever about German hospitality or German cooking. "Everybody has been very kind—it was just one of those unfortunate misunderstandings. I still don't know just what went wrong."

A Berlin newspaper, Der Tagesspiegel, carried a report published in Canada that the players had been complaining about conditions in Germany, including the food.

"That just isn't true. Today some German reporters came to see us and we told them we weren't complaining about food but about the hockey conditions."

By "hockey conditions" Bird meant that Wednesday night's game in Berlin was not a true test of the European calibre of play, since the Canadians had to lend players to the mixed team that opposed them.

"The first game was little more than a warm-up. We were a bit disappointed because we didn't bring 18 players, 9,000 miles for that kind of a contest."

Bird paid tribute to the Canadian military mission in Berlin, British diplomatic officials and a German liaison officer for helping the team overcome its early difficulties.

IT'S MY VIEW

Thoughts that pass in the night:

Sure the Penticon Vs got crossed up when they hit Germany, and perhaps one or two of them did speak out of turn, but judging from more recent reports it now appears that perhaps the early statements were over-emphasized by over-zealous reporters. Withdrawal from the world hockey tournament never seriously was an issue, that's certain. One story denies another; so here we are, and there they are. So let's wait awhile before condemning them.

This is the battle that, mostly, must be fought out on the ice. In that regard the Vs seem ready.

It should be noted, too, that a Vancouver columnist with the team in Germany didn't think the issue worth reporting; which, for now, is good enough for us.

And good luck to the Vs, especially Victoria's moral contribution to the club, ex-Cougars Jack McIntyre and Jim Fairburn.

But then if you're a golfer you can get a seven-day vacation in sunny Bermuda for as little as $127. This tab includes hotel room, meals, five hours of golf lessons by a pro, green fees, caddy fees, and a day at the famed Mid-Ocean Club. (Transportation is extra.)

Of course, if you intend to stay home, you mustn't miss the Island Open golf final scheduled for May 1, and after that the B.C. Match Play Open, scheduled here either May 8 or May 13. The B.C. Professional Golfers' Association didn't hesitate in approving the plan for a provincial final proposed by the Times. And their prompt answer is appreciated.

Victoria Orphans played at Alberni last night, and they played without the services of Don Hill and Dave Williamson because, it has been said, the players in question played in an outlaw league at Normal School, and thus were ineligible to compete for the Canadian championship. What drive, especially when no logical explanation has been offered as to the whys and wherefores of the subject. Little wonder that basketball is in the state it is. And little wonder that John Clark is fed up with the grind.

Bond of Unity Missing

Actually, we're seriously concerned with the basketball situation the way it is at present. There appears to be no bond whatsoever between the hierarchy and the clubs. And this isn't conducive to the well being of any sport. And heaven knows, basketball needs a fellowship of this nature. The fine print in the constitution is all well and good, but perhaps it should be printed in bigger type so everybody can understand it. Questions asked here have gone unanswered for the simple reason that no one appears capable of supplying the answers. At least that's the only logical explanation that fits the enigma surrounding the sport today.

Vs Romp to Victory; Meet Czech Team

BERLIN (CP)—Penticon Vs, Canada's entry in the world hockey championships, were to leave today for Prague where they hope to meet some real competition.

In two exhibition games here Wednesday and Friday, the Vs scored 27 goals, even though the opposition was padded out with Canadian players.

In Prague the Vs will play two more exhibition games Sunday and Monday in preparation for the world championship games opening in West Germany Feb. 25.

In Friday night's game against a team made up of Canadians, Swedes and Germans, the Penticon club won 16-1. They won Wednesday's game 11-4.

At Friday night's game, spectators included the Soviet team which will defend the world title. Hungary and France, without saying why, have already withdrawn from the competition in the junior group.

NINE TEAMS ENTERED
In senior play, Russia defends its title against Canada, the United States, Czechoslovakia, Sweden, Switzerland, Poland, Finland and West Germany.

Even though the Vs submitted their applications for Czech visas rather late, a Canadian military spokesman said Friday there should be nothing to prevent the team from taking off on this morning's flight to Prague. The Sunday match will be televised.

Hat tricks were turned in by Jim Fairburn and Jack McDonald.

What's This? No Penalties?

Big Bill Dickinson, a familiar lacrosse figure to Victorians as a player and referee, will assume a new role this year. As Take Lead In Cage Final

Alberni 50, Victoria 34
(Special to the Times)

ALBERNI—Victoria Orphans, who haven't got too many legs, managed to keep pace with Alberni Athletics in walking Friday night, but when they tried to run with the Up-Island club, Orphans were left in the dust.

As a result, Alberni took a 50-34 victory in the first game of their best-of-three Vancouver Island senior men's basketball final. Second game goes to night at Alberni.

Down to eight men and unable to match the conditioning of the power-packed Alberni team, Orphans pulled a strategic switch which had the Athletics befuddled in the first half. Coach Howie Tooby pulled Johnny Clark out of the bucket, abandoned the normal balanced floor attack and kept all five men on the outside, gambling on the hope that Alberni's defense would have to commit itself to get the ball.

The ball-hungry Alberni team were taken back by the switch and, with three minutes left in the half, the clubs were tied at 16-16.

But then, as Tooby said, "some of our guys got hoop happy and tried to outrun Alberni. That was the end of our little plan."

Able to unleash the full power of their fast break, Alberni quickly ran the score up to 25-16 at the half and took over in the second half as Victoria was unable to stick to the pace of the game.

Clark and George Denison, who both played the entire game, topped the Victoria scoring with 13 and 11 points respectively. Alberni's big three of Al Brown, Elmer Speldel and Ron Blissett followed 12 points each.

Line-ups followed:
Alberni—Brown 12, Samarin, Brimham 11, Speldel 12, Blissett 12, Kermode 3, Kozlovskoff, Veitch, Kholosai, Buchanan. Total—50.
Victoria—Clark 13, Jones, Denison 11, Parker 4, Hendry, Pedersen 8, Tooby 1, Davies. Total—34.

ON THE ALLEYS

Overheard in the pits:
All is not as calm in city women's tennis circles as it would appear to be.

Members of the fairer sex, who take a back seat to none when it comes to discussion, recently voiced their opinions at a meeting on the subject of Nanaimo women trundlers entering the Victoria city championships.

Although all was on the "hush-hush," the situation, briefly, is this:
... Nanaimo women, about 30 of them, affiliated with the Victoria section of the Women's International Bowling Congress in the 1953-54 season, when informed their numbers weren't sufficient to warrant a new branch.

... They competed in the city championships last season here, and although they didn't win any top team award, they were definitely in contention.

... Donors of the Arcade Perpetual Trophy, up for grabs since 1942, said this season they didn't want the trophy to leave this city as it was originally donated for the Victoria team winners.

They suggested the trophy be left for competition between Victoria teams only.

However, after two stormy sessions when no holds were barred, and not knowing Nanaimo women didn't plan to enter the team event this season, city women "outlawed" the Arcade Trophy and accepted a Bon Cafe Trophy, which they say will be used this year and in coming seasons.

So, this Sunday at Gibson's

2 Island Men Named To Boxla Commission

Six-Man Board Replaced; Island Clubs Recognized

By DENNY BOYD

Victoria Shamrocks and Nanaimo Native Sons scored a pair of pre-season victories Friday night at an Inter-city Lacrosse League meeting in Victoria.

Dead enemies during the season but allies by necessity of isolation in the off-season, the Island clubs managed to push through two motions that will ensure them of stronger representation in a league that had previously made a practice of tolerating them but not listening to them.

Through the efforts of the Island clubs, the unwieldy and impractical six-man commission elected in Vancouver two weeks ago was replaced by a more compact three-man commission, two of the members from the Island.

Elected to the commission posts were Ed Popham Sr. of Victoria, Bus Matthews of Nanaimo and Bill Dickinson, former league referee of Vancouver.

Giving the commission greater strength and taking some of the voting control away from the teams (of which the mainland has three), each commissioner was granted a vote in league business. In the past, commissioners have sat in on league meetings but were not given a vote.

The Island teams' proposal for a three-man commission was obviously aimed at the last meeting, when three mainland teams succeeded in blocking every suggestion of the Island clubs by exercising their superior voting power.

As the voting structure of the league now stands, each of the member teams has two votes, for a total of 10, while the league commission has six, one each to the president, vice-president, secretary and three commissioners.

Under such a set-up, both Victoria and Nanaimo were satisfied to leave the thorny problem of travelling guarantees in the hands of the executive, as well as arrangements for the round-robin series, in which the gate proceeds from the opening home game of each team is to be divided equally among all teams.

Match Play Golf Final Scheduled Here in May

By BILL WALKER

The B.C. Match Play Open golf final needs only the finalists to be named and the site to be selected here.

Approved by the B.C. Professional Golfers' Association Thursday night, the playoff received the blessing of Victoria and District Golf Committee president Bill McColl Friday.

"Fine," said McColl of the suggestion that Victoria get first crack at staging the championship between the winner of the Vancouver Match Play event and the Island Open Tournament.

It has been decided that the final will alternate each year between Vancouver and Victoria, with Vancouver to host the 1956 event.

The Times, who initiated the championship event, will work in conjunction with the Vancouver Daily Province in sponsoring the playoff.

The Province sponsors the match play tournament in Vancouver and the Times will sponsor the Island event this year. Respective tournament champions will be named on May 1, the Island tournament opening at Victoria Club on March 27.

Regarding the site for this year's final, it has been suggested that either Victoria Club or Colwood Host the event.

As the Island Match Play final will be held at Colwood this year, it is expected that Victoria Club will receive the nomination. The Victoria and District Committee will first check fixture lists at the respective clubs before a decision is reached so as not to interfere with other events.

May 8 has been tentatively set as the date for the final playoff with May 15 as an alternate date.

In announcing the unanimous approval of the B.C. PGA, president Ben Cole said:

"We are 100 per cent for the deal."

On learning of Cole's approval on behalf of the B.C. PGA, McColl said:

"That's swell. This could be the biggest thing in golf to hit the city in recent years."

V and D secretary Leo Derman concurred with McColl. "Now that it's all set, we'll make it the biggest playoff ever."

According to Kozlovskoff, Russia's hockey style is based upon that of "banga."

AGAR RECRUITED BY DESPERATE ROYALS

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—New Westminster Royals of the Western Hockey League have recruited playing-coach George Agar of Vernon Canadians to help them pull out of a slump.

Agar, who led the WHL in scoring with Calgary Stampede two years ago, was second high scorer in the Okanagan senior loop with Vernon this year.

It is expected Agar will be used by Royals on right wing to replace Barton Bradley who was sent to Victoria.

Royals have lost five straight games and are threatened with losing the last playoff spot to the surging Vancouver Canucks.

STOP FLYERS

Cougars Bid High Again

Victoria 3, Edmonton 1

Victoria Cougars, who were stung at Calgary Thursday night neutralized the venom somewhat Friday night when they scored life-saving 3-1 victory over the league-leading Edmonton Flyers at Edmonton.

Cougars lost a chance to move into second place Thursday night when they lost to the Stampede, 2-1, but the Victoria club scrambled back into a contending position for second place with Friday's victory over the tough Edmonton club.

Cougars play at Saskatoon tonight, their fourth game in as many nights while Calgary will be playing Edmonton. A Victoria win coupled with a Calgary loss would put Victoria into second place with a one-point margin over the Stampede.

CANUCKS HELP

The Cougars also get a break on the coast Friday night when the Vancouver Canucks pulverized New Westminster Royals 6-0, to throw mud on any designs New Westminster might have had on Cougars' third-place spot.

Friday's victory was all the more palatable for the Cougars since it was the first this season on Edmonton ice, the Flyers proving to be a particularly thorny handful to Cougars in previous meetings.

There was no scoring in the first period but Billy Bucyk, recently converted to a forward, slipped in a 20-footer in the second period on Gene Achymichuk's pass.

Flyer rookie Don Poile got credit for the tying goal although it was Cougar defenseman Bill Davidson who accidentally knocked the puck into his own net. Achymichuk took Davidson off the hook when he scored eventual winning goal and Doug Macauley wrapped it up with his 21st goal of the season.

Canucks Blank Royals

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Canucks continued to use the New Westminster Royals as a stepping stone to a Western Hockey League playoff berth Friday night by blanking them 6-0 for their second victory in as many meetings here.

Canucks, who meet the Royals again tonight at New Westminster, now trail the Royals by four points.

The Royals were humbled 10-3 earlier in the week before a smaller crowd than the 4,900 who watched the shutout.

Defensesman Harry Dick was tops in the scoring department with two goals. Fred Brown, Ray Cyr, Phil Maloney and Earl Johnson also scored.

Canucks had picked up a 3-0 lead by the nine-minute mark of the first period, added another goal in the second, and tallied twice more in the final frame.

Brown's disputed goal at 4:40 of the first, assisted by Cyr and John Reeve, was scored while all players were fighting it out in front of the crease. Brown snapped the puck in during the scuffle, but Royals claimed he had been standing inside the crease.

Len Murrant, 585; Jerry McLeary, 579, and Cas Sapala, 554, shot other notable threes, while McLeary, 226; Jim Nicol, 211, and George Motion and Murrant, 209, shot leading singles.

Lolly Hughes paced the women with a 510 total, and Jean Gray claimed a 226 singleton.

B. Manchester, 580; Harvey Mayzes, 573; Bill Brown, 567; Fred Shaw, 556; Webb, 554; Alex Quinn, 552, and Dave Doolittle, 550, fired top totals in the commercial division.

Webb, 224; Mayzes, 216; Manchester, 212, 210; L. Creighton, 212; Len Scott, 211; L. Slaag, 208; Sapala and E. Parker, 205; Andy Orvchick, 202, and Len Hobbs, 200, checked in leading singles.

Bobby Dawes May Sign For Royals

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Bobby Dawes, former National Hockey League player and now defenseman for Kelowna Packers of the Okanagan Senior League, may be in New Westminster Royals Western League lineup next week.

Kenny McKenzie, owner of the Royal City club, took in Friday night's game between Kelowna and Kamloops Elks and is understood to have made Dawes an offer.

Dawes last week captured the most valuable player award in the OSHL and was also voted most popular player on the Packers.

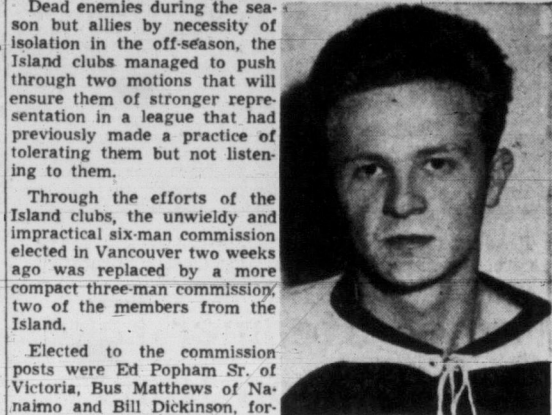

McKenzie has been watching the semi-final series between Elks and Packers and now that Kelowna has been knocked out of the finals Dawes is a free agent.

Red Hockey Not So, Derived From 'Banga'

BERLIN (BUP)—The Russians, Col. Kozlovskoff said it had been developed from the game of "banga," long played in Russia. The game is played on ice sheets the size of soccer field and the ice is marked similar to a soccer pitch. The game is played with a hooked stick and heavy ball about the size of a baseball.

According to Kozlovskoff, Russia's hockey style is based upon that of "banga."

BUTLERS TOPPLE SIDNEY IN ISLAND CAGE SERIES

Butlers Aces won the lower Vancouver Island senior C men's basketball championship, defeating Sidney, 69-40, Friday night at the Brentwood Community Hall. The Saanich and Suburban League team took the two-game total-point series by 35 points.

Will Benn scored 14 points and Ron Benn hooped 12 for Aces who picked up a six-point lead in the first series game. A 19-point scoring spree by Harold Jacobson of the Sidney club was a valiant contribution to a losing cause.

Totem Cagers Score Fourth Straight Win

Victoria High Totems' senior boys basketball team rolled to their fourth-straight win Friday night at the Vic High gym by scoring an easy 49-23 victory over Oak Bay.

Vic High juniors gave Oak Bay its first loss, 28-22, in close, tight game.

Tom English topped Vic High with nine points, while Bud Rutherford and Ken McCullough each scored eight for Totems. Alex Redden led the losers with seven.

The Victoria High juniors downed Oak Bay in the last quarter. Oak Bay was behind, 10-4 during the early stages of the game, but moved up to 17-18 before Vic High clinched the match during the final minutes of play.

Your Dog And Mine

By TAILWAGGER

Puppies, when fed, naturally have distended stomachs—but when this is very marked after a meal, it is reasonable to suspect worms. Other symptoms are a "staring coat"—this is not easily described but easily recognized by an experienced breeder. The hair is dull and sticks out a little from the body.

I think all puppies should be given a dose of worm medicine at the age of seven or eight weeks, but I am sure that many owners overdo this treatment afterwards.

As soon as the dog shows a little loss of appetite or is a trifle less exuberant than usual, they cry "worms" and dash to the medicine cupboard for a bottle of pills. So poor Fido, who is probably suffering from a little indigestion, is treated to a much greater intestinal upset by the vermifuge. This is not to say that older dogs are not troubled with worms. They often are—but not so often as some people would have you think. To these folk "worm cure" is the only solution to all difficulties, and they turn the poor dog's tummy into a drug store. Notice that on your visits to the vet you do not constantly hear the diagnosis "worms," naturally, if the vet suspects worms he will tell you so, but he does not blame everything for the pest.

First make sure that worms are present then use medicine as directed—not as your sympathy would have you use it.

If the makers of the medicine say that the dog must fast for 24 hours before dosing—then the dog must fast and that means no food at all. If there is food in the intestines it will prevent the medicine from reaching the worms properly,

Advance Sale Indicates Big Season for Majors

NEW YORK (AP)—

Major league baseball clubs can look forward to a prosperous 1955 on the basis of advance sale of tickets.

With only one or two exceptions, and one of these is New York Yankees, the clubs reported an increase in advance sales over 1954.

An Associated Press survey today showed the increase is in line with the over-all jump last year when attendance climbed 9.7 per cent over the preceding season on a turnout of 15,935,881 fans.

Yankees advance is in excess of $900,000 but they are about 10 per cent off last year's figures. When Pittsburgh Pirates checked their figures a week ago they found themselves only $2,000 under last year. Last year's figures were $328,214 compared to this year's $326,811.

Both world champion New York Giants and the American League titleholders, Cleveland Indians, are well satisfied. The advance ticket sale of Giants has passed a record $500,000 where the entire advance up to the opening day in 1954 was only $322,000.

Indians said they do not keep comparative records but that sales are running ahead of last year when the club did around $1,000,000 in advance sales.

15 PER CENT HIGHER

Brooklyn Dodgers, benefitting from clever promotions, are at the $600,000 mark, which is almost 15 per cent higher than at the same time last season.

Requests are coming in so fast at the new home of the Athletics in Kansas City that the club has not had time to strike a total. But officials said the advance sale already has surpassed the 304,666 attendance for the entire season last year when they played in Philadelphia under different ownership.

Baltimore, where the transplanted Browns improved in attendance but not much in the standings last year, had $550,000 in the till as of Feb. 13, compared with an estimated $470,000 in 1954.

Milwaukee, which topped all clubs last year with an attendance in excess of 2,000,000, estimated its advance sale at or close to 1,000,000.

MCC Batting Fails In Exhibition Match

SYDNEY (Reuters)—England's Marylebone Cricket Club had a batting breakdown and finished level with New South Wales on first innings in their match here with a total of 172 today.

New South Wales was 18 for one wicket when bad light ended play for the day an hour before the normal time. Two days are left for play.

Alan Davidson, bowling into a wind, troubled the early batsmen with his swing had lift, and five MCC wickets were down for 35 runs.

Then Len Hutton, who reserved himself for number seven, stepped into the breach. He and Tom Graveney added 59 in 87 minutes to improve the position, and Godfrey Evans followed with a lively 50 in 79 minutes.

TITLE WIN FOR DON WORTH PLENTY TO JACK

LONDON (AP)—If Britain's Don Cockell meets and beats Rocky Marciano for the world heavyweight title, London promoter Jack Solomons will win $28,000 on a $28 bet made in May, 1952.

The bet was that Solomons couldn't come up with a world heavyweight champion within five years.

Solomons, who helps handle Cockell's interests in the United States, disclosed the bet—legal under British laws—Thursday night. He made it with bookmaker William Hill.

Cockell Confident, Title Fight in May

LONDON (AP)—Sure that he will win the heavyweight boxing crown, pudgy Don Cockell sailed Friday aboard the liner Queen Mary for New York to sign contracts for a title fight with champion Rocky Marciano.

Sheffield May Sell Jackie Sewell

LONDON (CP)—Sheffield Wednesday, foundering at the bottom of the first division, may sell one of its best players, Jackie Sewell, costliest player in the country with a $34,000 tag on his head, is the player on the auction block. Sheffield Wednesday paid Norths County the record fee for Sewell in 1951.

Wednesday, known in the steel town of Sheffield as the "yo-yo" team because of erratic form from season to season, hasn't won a league game since Oct. 16. It now is last in the 22-team table, six points below its nearest rival, Leicester City, which has a game in hand.

The club has tried for some time to buy players, but nobody seems to want their money. Most clubs, however, say they would be keen on a player-and-money swap involving Sewell, Albert Quixall or Redfern Frogatt, all top-class inside forwards.

With the season 26 weeks old, Wednesday can claim only 14 of a possible 58 points from its 29 games. Experts say it will take a miracle to keep the club from relegation, under the ruling whereby the last two teams in the first division are shunted down to the second.

South American Girl Takes Lead

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A dark horse entry from South America—Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay—made a strong bid for her first U.S. golf victory Friday when she surged into a three-stroke lead at the halfway point in the $5,000 women's open Sevin golf tournament.

Miss Crocker produced a 71, three under par, for the 6,282-yard Bayshore Golf Club course for a two-day total of 145.

This performance hoisted her out of a second place tie into the lead, three strokes ahead of little Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga.

Randy's Ring Future Disputed by Experts

By ROBERT C. DOWSON
British United Press
Correspondent

LONDON (BUP)—Experts reserved judgment today on whether former world middleweight champion Randy Turpin can make a comeback as a light-heavyweight.

Turpin's second step on the road back will be a 10-round bout against Spain's heavyweight champion Jose Gonzalez at London's Earl Court Stadium, March 8.

In his first comeback bout against Luxembourg's light-heavyweight champion, Ray Schmitt, at Birmingham last Tuesday, Turpin won when Schmitt was disqualified in the eighth round for persistent holding.

But experts were not enthusiastic about the outcome, nor about Randy's future prospects. It was pointed out that Schmitt's only claim to fame was that he had never been knocked out. Indeed, he had never been put down on the canvas, his handlers said, until Turpin dumped him on the floor for a count of two in the fifth round with a left hook.

Apart from a brief moment in the second round when Randy was caught with a wild right to the chin, it was a one-sided fight, and there was not sufficient class in Schmitt for the experts to draw conclusions.

Turpin said he fought according to orders, and his manager, George Middleton, thought Randy did well, considering it was his first fight since losing his European middleweight title to Italy's Tiberio Mitri in Rome last May on a first round knock-out.

The ringside observers saw no sign of the sharp timing and the paralyzing punch of the Turpin of a couple of years ago.

CAPITAL CITY GRANT SUGGESTED FOR GORGE

Herbert Bruch (SC-Esquamalt) Friday urged federal and provincial aid in dredging the Gorge waterway. Mr. Bruch told the Legislature he was certain the federal administration would co-operate on the project, and "I would seriously urge the provincial government to consider helping when that aid is forthcoming."

The Esquamalt member said if necessary the Gorge project could be built out of the capital city grant.

"It is one of the best places it could be spent," he said. Mr. Bruch said dredging the Gorge would make it an outstanding recreational area, "something we badly need with the increase in juvenile delinquency."

"It would make an ideal attraction," said Mr. Bruch.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Tape recording found on a bedside table:

Oh, so it's going to be another one of those nights, is it? ... toss and turn ... maybe if I lie still I'll go to sleep ... but I know better than that ... when you can't sleep, you can't sleep, and that's all there is to it ... might as well get up and do something useful ... like mowing the lawn ... wrong time of year ... maybe I could now the rug ... wish I had a pickled pork sandwich ... I don't really ... in fact I don't even know what a pickled pork sandwich is ... it would undoubtedly make me sick ... not that I'm not sick right now ... insomnia is a disease ... but nobody sympathizes with an insomniac ... everybody wants to get insomniac, as Jimmy Durante wouldn't be caught dead saying.

Well, if I can't sleep I might as well think about a column for tomorrow ... should be able to do a funny piece on Tisdalle's speech in the House ... oh yeah? ... and I could also get spare-time work gilding lilies ... would the Newspaper Guild object? ... Roberts, you're a card ... the deuce of clubs ...

... alright, so what about a column? ... there might be something in the news item from Georgia ... about the merchant who offered silver dollars for sale at 75 cents each ... and hardly any takers ... you know, make a crack about who would pay 75 cents for a buck when everyone knows it's only worth four bits these days ... very funny ... maybe I'd better get up and mow the rug after all ...

Then there's the report from the Dutch parliament ... they're going to pass a law prohibiting blinkers for horses ... could I say something about blinkers for voters, too? ... naw ... maybe something about the politicians horsing around? ... naw, naw ...

Actually, why am I worrying about tomorrow's column? Maybe they'll give me a day off tomorrow ... maybe I won't wake up tomorrow ... but how can I not wake up if I don't go to sleep? ...

Everybody else in this house is asleep ... do they wake up and sympathize with me for not sleeping? ... they do not. They sleep soundly. My wife sleeps soundly. My son sleeps soundly. My dog sleeps soundly. My cat would sleep soundly if I had a cat. No it wouldn't. It would be stamping its feet up and down keeping me awake ...

Perhaps I could do a real hilarious column on my very own theory of Social Credit ... or the ideal report of a city council meeting ... say: there's an idea ... just run five square inches of blank space ... ha, ha ... very funny ... very funny ... very snrft ... zzzzz ... shrnft hmmmffff ...

The dime, once an aristocrat among coins, has fallen on evil days. It used to be something you could use to take a girl out for a cup of coffee or maybe even pay your income tax. But today a dime is something you sneak furtively under your plate because it's too small a tip. About the only thing you can do with a dime today is buy a nickel's worth of candy. Or make the first part of a phone call. Or use it to put under the short leg of a wobbly table. This situation makes me so nervous I'd like to put in another title for this Doodle. If you turn it upside down, it becomes "A Dime Landing on a Rocket Ship." But personally I think it loses something that way.

'Money Talks' Inquiry Scope To Be Discussed

Counsel Coming For Monday Talk

Counsel for the Lord Royal Commission on Issuing of forest management licenses will arrive in Victoria Monday for discussions with Attorney-General Robert Bonner.

The action follows a complaint Friday by Commissioner Judge Arthur E. Lord he cannot start the probe "until the government tells us how deep it wants to go."

Attorney-General Bonner said commission counsel Alfred Bull, QC, will arrive in Victoria Monday "to commence the business of the commission."

Government officials said the scope of the inquiry may have to be clarified by a further order-in-council, setting specific terms of reference.

The order commissioning Judge Lord said he would "inquire into the circumstances surrounding the issuance of forest management licenses for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not there was impropriety on the part of any person in connection with the issuance of any forest management licenses."

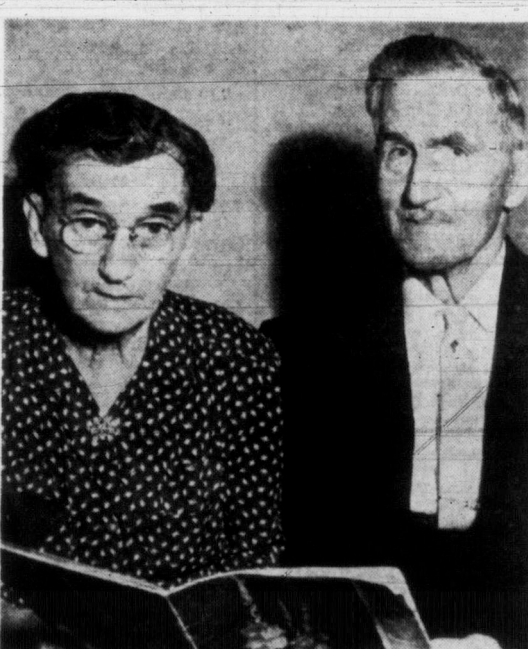

Judge Lord said statements by the attorney-general an immediate start would be made by the commission "are a little premature."

TAKEN SUSPENSION

Meanwhile, the man whose charges forced the commission, Liberal MLA Gordon Gibson of Lillooet, Friday received a token suspension from the legislature.

Mr. Gibson informed the Speaker, Thomas Irwin, he would not retract or deny his charges, that "money talks" in the issuing of management licenses.

Attorney-General Bonner moved the suspension motion, which banished Mr. Gibson from the chamber for the four-hour period he was out on Wednesday, immediately following his naming.

FORMULA FOR MATRIMONY

'Don't Worry When Wife Wins'—Helps Marriage

"Own your own home, keep a common purse, consult one another and don't worry when the woman always comes out best ..."

That's William Wain's formula for 60 years of happiness in marriage. He and Mrs. Wain, Cordova Bay, celebrate a diamond wedding next Tuesday.

The Wains, both born on the Saanich Peninsula 80-odd years ago, only moved from the island once, briefly to the Cariboo. Five succeeding generations of Wains have since been born in Saanich or Victoria.

Parents of both the bride and groom came around the Horn to Victoria in 1850 and 1853, the voyage taking six months.

Mr. Wain farmed in North Saanich (hops for local brewers) and was well known in Comox as a director of the Comox Creamery and manager of the large R. U. Hurford dairy farm.

Mrs. Wain's father, the late Henry Simpson, donated the ground for the Saanich Agricultural Fair. He brought fine Suffolk sheep and horses to the island, vastly improving local strains.

The Wains had three children. Only William Henry Wain of Victoria survives.

They are looking forward to the anniversary excitement subsidizing so they can get back to the seed catalogues and the television.

Parting word to visiting reporters: "We'll see you again on the 70th."

Mayor Fights City Police Wage Request

Argues Before Conciliator

Victoria Police Federal Union (TLC) will meet Monday night to discuss conciliation hearings completed this week.

Government conciliator R. S. McLaughlin met with Mayor Claude Harrison and union president Lorne Shandley for wage talks which spread over four days. Press was not admitted.

Talks were highlighted by a 12-point speech by Mayor Harrison, showing why he thought no wage hike was justified. Police had asked a 5 per cent to give parity with Vancouver.

Victoria police commission offered a 5 per cent cut in return, but later scaled this to one per cent.

Both parties to the dispute must now await decision of the conciliator. His settlement could be final or the government could appoint a conciliation board to go into the matter further.

The mayor's main argument was that Victoria hasn't the "skidrow and underworld" of the mainland city. He added that nowhere in Canada is wage equality recognized.

Big Housing Subdivision Starts Soon

136 Lansdowne Lots On Market in June

Saanich council is scheduled Monday night to sign an agreement triggering the development of one of the largest Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation subdivisions in British Columbia.

The 50-acre project—bounded by Lansdowne, Richmond, Shelbourne and Newton—will eventually contain 136 houses.

Lots are expected to go on sale in June.

It was learned today representatives of CMHC and the municipality have cleared the decks for final signing at the regular Monday council meeting.

OLD AIRFIELD

The agreement will then be turned over to the provincial government and CMHC for confirmation.

Preparation of the area—which is actually the site of Vancouver Island's first airfield—will start soon after the signing.

The project, which will be built under the National Housing Act, will be financed jointly by the federal and provincial governments on a 75-25 per cent share basis.

It's the third project of its kind in the province.

Under the agreement CMHC will build roads, install a sewer system and other services before selling the lots. Saanich does not have to contribute.

A CMHC official said the provincial government first will conduct a survey of the land before services are installed.

The subdivision will include a shopping district. At least two retail firms, Simpson & Sears and Woodward Stores Limited, are reportedly interested in establishing branch stores on or near the housing site.

Smaller concerns also have shown interest.

NES Reports Unemployment Down Slightly

First indication seasonal unemployment is on the decline was indicated today by the National Employment Service office here which reported a drop in the number of men seeking jobs in Victoria.

C. A. Mudge, manager of the NES, reported a slight drop but said the unemployment figure was still high. There was still a large number of unskilled workers, construction tradesmen and service workers seeking jobs in the city, he pointed out.

The unemployment picture for women, he added, was no better than it was in January when jobs were few. He did not expect conditions to improve until spring.

Prairie Visitor Fined After Gorge Collision

A Saskatchewan visitor, Francis Wagstaff, was fined $35 in city police court today when she pleaded guilty to a careless driving charge.

Court was told the accused was driver of a car Friday night involved in a car-bus collision at Gorge and Washington Streets, about 4.30 p.m. Damage to the vehicles was $700.

The driver's mother, Mrs. Charles W. Wagstaff, 53, of Carleton Place, Saskatchewan, suffered head lacerations in the accident.

Secrecy Threatened By Library Chairman

Neeley Tells Press to Obey 'Don't Print' Orders or Stay Out of Board Meetings

Library Board chairman, James Neely, threatened Friday to close board meetings to the press if reporters won't obey his directions on what should be printed.

The statement came on the heels of his re-election as board chairman.

Following a budget meeting, he said he wants to have reporters present but if they won't observe "don't print that" requests, "Then we'll do the same as City Hall and keep reporters out of the meetings."

Told that reporters were duty bound to report all proceedings, he replied, "I've had a lot of dealings with reporters and we've always got along all right. They have always co-operated when I asked them."

The matter arose when Mr. Neely was discussing a motion by Capt. D. J. Proudfoot to name municipal voice-but-no-vote members to library committees.

SURVEY PLANNED

"We'd be well advised to leave it to a later date," said Mr. Neely, explaining that he did not want to upset a project now underway in intermunicipal committee, where a survey of amalgamation possibilities is planned.

Then to the reporters, "Don't print that." Later, he added, "Don't get me wrong. I'm all for the municipalities being in here. I just want to be careful."

The committee passed a resolution which permits municipal board members to sit on committees, but only on chairman's invitation. None of the municipal members were included in the list of committees.

Suggested by Mr. Neely and

REPORTERS BARRED

Two weeks ago Ald. Millard Mooney invited reporters to attend a public works committee meeting to prove "There is no secrecy at City Hall."

But the wraps went back on city business Friday. Asked if scribes could enter, Mr. Mooney said, "Not as far as I'm concerned."

He said reports of the last meeting were unfair. They highlighted arguments between Ald. Don Smith and Mr. Mooney on the secrecy issue.

He didn't deny they took place, but it was "unfair" to highlight them, he charged.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Can you tell me if a person is considered to be in his 70th year the day following his 69th birthday, and if so is he entitled to receive old age pension benefits from that date?—C.N.H.

A.—When a person passes his 69th birthday he is in his 70th year. When he is 69½ years of age he is entitled to apply for the pension and the officials will put in motion the administrative machinery which will provide monthly payments at 70. The old age security office here is in the Federal Building.

Q.—What is the most recent population count of New Zealand's four largest cities?—D.M.M.

A.—Authoritative estimates as given in the World Almanac are: Auckland, 337,100; Wellington, 212,600; Christchurch, 178,500; Dunedin, 96,400.

The Church Page

By LANCE H. WHITTAKER

A choir of 12 teen-age Doukhobors, and three mothers whose husbands are in jail and whose children are in custody of the Welfare Department, were visitors in Victoria Friday night.

The story of the public meeting held by these people is carried elsewhere in today's Times.

In a sense their mission was special pleading. They have broken Canadian law and have recourse, both to the law and public opinion, through the courts, the authority of which they refuse to acknowledge.

It can be argued that they have no right to a hearing outside the properly-constituted channels. Certainly no group of bank robbers would get much public response in a mass appeal for sympathy.

Still, it was a bitter thing that fewer than 25 persons in this city of churches and churchgoers were interested enough to hear the story first-hand, no matter how wrong-minded the Sons of Freedom may be.

Whatever the legal position, there can be no question that the issue is a religious one basically, and we are showing almost complete indifference to a sect which claims to be persecuted—in 1955, and in Canada—for its beliefs.

The church is leaving the solution of the Sons of Freedom problem completely to the secular authorities. It can be predicted, with certainty, that future generations will wonder at this, and reap a rueful reward.

What About the Orthodox?

Is this to be the response to Monday's appearance of the Orthodox group?

Is it nothing to us that we have in British Columbia the remnant of the only Reformation in Asia, a remnant which has struggled among us for 65 years to establish and maintain its identity as a "fundamentalist" sect?

The Orthodox, under John Verigin, are not lawbreakers. They plead only for social contact, to broaden understanding on both sides.

An audience of 25 in the auditorium Monday night would be a heartless reply, unworthy of Victoria.

Remarkable Musical Experience

Apart from the appeal for friendship and understanding, the chance of hearing a Doukhobor choir is an opportunity to have a remarkable musical experience. Their singing is unlike anything heard anywhere. It's closest counterpart is the folk music of Wales.

Everybody sings among the Doukhobors, but they do not use instruments of any kind in their music. Most of their people have never studied music and would not know one note from another. Nevertheless, they love to sing and the harmonies produced are extraordinarily clear and give the impression of a great organ playing.

Their music has been said to go back to the Syrian Plain song, and is sometimes referred to as the Zameny tradition of singing. Most of the religious songs which they sing are songs which the Doukhobor people have originated, and although they do not write them because they do not know music, they are preserved by singing and are passed down from one generation to another.

Their singing springs from deep wells of religious conviction, and to hear them is to understand, a little, the story of 250 years of tortured homelessness.

Combined Choir At St. Andrew's Sunday at 3

Lovers of sacred music are offered a fine program at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon at 3 when St. Andrew's choir and the Masonic choir combine in recital.

Guest soloist is contralto Eleanor Duff.

The choir will be led by C. C. Warren. George H. Peaker will be at the organ.

GLORIA IN EXCELSIS

The combined choir will do "Gloria in Excelsis" by Mozart and "Judge Me, O God" (Mendelssohn) to open the program.

The Brother James Air setting to the 23rd Psalm and Schubert's "Thou Art Repose" will be sung by the Masonic choir.

MISS DUFF HEARD

Miss Duff will be heard in "O Divine Redeemer" by Gounod and "The Heart Worshipers" by Gustav Holts.

For the second group, the Masonic choir has chosen Tchaikovsky's "A Legend," "I Heard a Forest Praying" and "Words so Dense."

RICHTER "CREATION"

Following an organ solo by George Peaker the choir continues with Richter's "Creation" and Kramer's "The Great Awakening."

The combined choir conclude the program with "By Babylon's Wave" (Gounod) and "The Heavens Are Telling," with Miss Kathleen Paulin, J. W. Bell and L. J. Matheson as soloists.

ROTARY'S 50TH YEAR MARKED BY SERVICE

Rotarians of Victoria and their families will attend the evening service at Christ Church Cathedral on Sunday.

The Very Reverend Dean P. R. Beattie, a member of the club, will conduct a service to commemorate the founding of the world-wide Rotary organization in Chicago just 50 years ago.

The Victoria club, with a membership of about 170, obtained its charter in 1913 and became Club No. 90.

Over 8,300 clubs, with approximately 400,000 members, have been established since 1905.

SCM Day of Prayer To Be Observed Here

Members of Victoria College Branch To Speak From Many City Church Pulpits

Special speakers at many city churches, and a special fireside hour at St. John's Church Sunday evening, will mark a day of prayer Sunday for students of the world.

Members of the Victoria College branch of the Student Christian Movement will visit churches Sunday evening to speak on the work of the movement, which is affiliated with the World Student Christian Federation.

FOUNDED IN SWEDEN

The WSCF was founded in Sweden in the year 1895 by five leaders of students' Christian organizations in Europe and America. The late Dr. John R. Mott was the first permanent secretary with the commission to form a world-wide fellowship.

By 1897, there were affiliated national fellowships in China, Japan, India and Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand, and South Africa. Now in 1955, there are affiliated movements in 25 countries, corresponding movements in 11 countries (including the Russian SCM outside Russia) and pioneer movements in 15 countries (mostly in Latin America).

EXECUTIVE

The executive of WSCF comprises: D. T. Niles (Ceylonese), chairman; Marie-Jeanne Coleman (French), vice-chairman; Philippe Maury (French), general secretary; Kyaw Than (Burmese), associate general secretary; Lella Giles (Austrian), travelling secretary; Valdo Galland (Uruguayan), travelling secretary (South America); T. V. Philip (Indian), travelling secretary (Southeast Asia); Don Wilson (Canadian), 1955-56, travelling secretary (South America).

The WSCF has been instrumental in the founding of the following churches: Emmanuel Baptist Church, Rev. James E. Smith, B.A., Minister. 11:00 a.m.—"LITTLE ACOONS" Youth Service. 7:30 p.m.—"A WEAK SISTER" Series: "Little World Pictures of People"

Teapot in New Shape
Attractive on Any Table

By PENNY SAVER

Did you ever see a teapot shaped like a periwinkle shell. I have. It's a delicate shade of green that gradually fades into a soft coral. The spout is at the point of the shell, which is set on an angle.

Beautifully shaped sugar and creamers are in the same delicate colors. The whole set for $14.95.

Now, to eliminate the tiny drops of tea that run down the spout of any teapot and onto the tray or cloth. I've found tiny drip mats, shaped in circles, that are all slit in the middle in a star shape. You simply slip the mat over the spout, and the paper composition absorbs the excess tea.

They come in a package of 50 in all colors, and are a real clever idea. A package cost 19 cents. . . buy several, they're very practical, yet inexpensive.

Have you seen the tiny purse-size phone or address books? For $1.95, you can buy one of these gold-plated lovelies, with a slide indicating lovelies, with a slide indicating lovelies, with a slide indicating lovelies. It's just a matter of pressing a little knob and up pops the address you want. Also, there's a small blank section where you may have your initials if you wish. It would make a cute and thoughtful gift, too.

Ran into some "straight-from-Heaven" gloves today. Made of a nylon composition, they're elasticized somehow so that you don't have to buy any special size. . . all hands can be fitted in the one, elasticized pair. They're washable and quick drying, and come in blue, white and red. Short, short, too. . . for your new spring suit.

Lawn handkerchiefs made in Switzerland will appeal to any of you who are dog fanciers. . . why? Because on each of these lovely hankies is an embroidered dog. There are collies, spaniels, boxers and adorable white or black poodles, and just about every other kind I could think of. In natural colors, the embroidery work is lovely.

There are others with gorgeous flower designs, either around the edges or in sprays. All have hand-rolled edges, and cost $1 each. Looking at the whole display, I found it hard to decide which ones I would choose. . . you will, too.

If you struggle with wrapping parcels the way I do, you'll really appreciate this little pre-stuffed ribbon. There are six feet of ribbon; enough to wrap the gift, and then the ribbon bow is all folded and clipped, ready to be tied to the parcel.

Once it's on, you separate the loops to form a very professional looking bow. All this, and it's only 25 cents.

Aldyen Hamber Chapter
Re-Elects the Regent

Miss Peggy MacNeill was re-elected regent of Aldyen Hamber Chapter, IOOE, in annual meeting following a buffet supper in the Cranmore Road home of Mrs. A. W. E. Pitkethley.

Other officers elected are Mrs. W. T. Fraser, first vice-regent; Mrs. Pitkethley, second vice-regent; Mrs. J. A. Dunn, secretary; Mrs. C. Medley, treasurer; Miss E. Nagle, educational secretary; Mrs. M. Kendall, Echoes and Mrs. M. Campbell, standard bearer.

The B.C. Protestant Orphanage continued to be the leading project, it was shown in annual reports. The chapter added to their work for handicapped children by giving $100 to the Cerebral Palsy Clinic, Mrs. D. Lockyer, Services at Home and Abroad convener, reported. The sum of $116.39 was spent on gifts for the orphanage, including a slide for the younger children. A total of $336.39 was spent on Child and Family Welfare.

A further donation of $100 went to the Victoria Nursing Home to help with the furnishing of a sunroom.

A hamper costing $20 was given to a needy family and $25 was donated to the Korea project.

Mrs. Graham Harris, educational secretary, stated that an album of records and a film strip had been sent to the adopt school at Bear Creek.

Mrs. J. A. Dunn, secretary, reported that fund raising projects had included a home cooking sale, two rummage sales and the annual penny sale held jointly with the Navy League Chapter.

The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. C. Medley, showed total receipts as $639.95 and disbursements of $692.52.

Reports were also given by Mrs. M. Kendall, Echoes secretary; Mrs. M. Campbell, standard bearer, and Mrs. Jerry Gosley, publicity.

Mrs. J. L. Gates, municipal regent, and Mrs. J. L. Ford, honorary vice-regent of the chapter, were special guests at the meeting and supper.

In Step With Style

By NONA DAMASKE

Let's Face It—A woman owes it to herself and to those around her to be as attractive as possible. We are not all fortunate enough to have regular features and good natural coloring, but we are indeed fortunate that we can consult our cosmetician and gain knowledge to help play up a good feature and minimize a poor one.

To begin at the beginning, we must consider a healthful diet and the required amount of rest. The sparkle of your eyes and the sheen of your hair are there because you eat correctly and rest well. No amount of money spent on cosmetics can erase the blemishes caused from over-indulgence in too many rich foods. No cosmetic can do as much to banish puffiness under the eyes as a few nights of undisturbed slumber.

It is never too soon to begin giving your skin the care that will keep it young and lovely. However, it seems to be the woman who has passed 30 who suddenly realizes she needs some help with her complexion.

I am not going to attempt to advise anyone on their skin problems, as there are qualified cosmeticians in our city who are trained in that field. I realize too that you look for fashion help when you read "In Step With Style," but your makeup must be correctly applied and be of the right shade for your ensemble or the over-all picture is not good.

In the first picture you see a freshly-washed face, devoid of all makeup.

My makeup in the second picture was done by an Elizabeth Arden consultant and I will tell you the pattern which Mrs. Birchall followed. Rachel liquid basic sheen was blended thoroughly over face and throat; candy cane shade paste rouge applied high on the cheekbones; a blend of brown and lilac green eyeshadow, shade 5½; invisible veil powder patted on with fresh cotton. Brown eyebrow pencil and brown mascara, candy cane shade lipstick applied with a brush, and there I was—all ready for picture number two.

Many New Shades for Spring

As she was working, Mrs. Birchall told me about two new shades for spring and summer. The very newest color is "Pure Red," the rarest of reds, brave on brunettes, brilliant on blondes and perfect with new fashions. Another new shade is Parma Violet, which is beautiful but not quite so versatile. I am inclined to be of an inquisitive nature and I enjoy experimenting with new colors in makeup but it is funny how over a period of 15 years I find myself turning back to an old standby shade, Stop-Red. There is another lovely shade called Burnt Sugar which is outstanding with Tangerine, rust and all browns. Be sure when you are purchasing a new lipstick to buy your paste rouge in the same shade.

When you are using foundation and powder please do not forget your throat and neck, remember to brush excess powder from your eyebrows and blot your lipstick with a tissue so that it will not smear. Consult an expert, experiment a little on your own, keep a light natural look, and, above all, have fun with your makeup. Improving your makeup is another challenge to the woman who wishes to look her best at all times.

We have not talked about clothes this week, but I would like to draw your attention to a very becoming ensemble which will be much in evidence next week—the uniform of the VON.

The Question Box—Miss J. R.: You ask the advantages of having your ears pierced. I think the most important reason is that your earrings never slip off and get lost. There is a very large selection of earrings for pierced ears in an interesting shop on Government Street.

Longed for Baby; Now
She Doesn't Want It

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

When a mother-to-be is not feeling up to par physically, it is bound to influence her attitude toward her baby.

(Q)—"I am 22 years old and have been happily married for five years. We have one child, 3½ years old. I have had three miscarriages since my first child's birth. I thought I wanted another child more than anything in the world, and we even have gone so far as to take out adoption papers for a baby. After all the grief of losing three babies, I now find myself pregnant again and with every good hope of keeping this baby. I can't understand my feeling, but I don't want this baby."

"I know some pregnant women get odd thoughts and feelings especially when they are not well. I am not well but I wasn't well when I had my other pregnancies and I didn't feel this way. I told my husband how I feel, and he doesn't understand me and is deeply hurt. The other night I dreamed I had a 10-year-old boy who was badly deformed. I am at my wits' ends. I am afraid that if I keep this baby, it will be deformed as a punishment for my evil thoughts. Can you help me?"

(A)—Go to your doctor at once and explain to him how you feel. He can help you to understand that it is your physical condition plus your dread that you might be faced with the grief of another miscarriage that is making you feel as you do. I urge you to have him explain the whole matter to your husband too, so that he will not misunderstand you and feel hurt because you do not want your child.

As for your "evil thoughts" affecting your baby, that is impossible. You can put your mind at rest on this point. There is no way your thoughts can affect your baby; there is no direct connection between your body and your baby's body through nerves or blood vessels. Your doctor can explain this too, and that will help you to realize that you are merely suffering from ill health, not "evil thoughts."

Dr. Hurlock is the author of a 64-page booklet, "You and Your Problems." For your copy send 15 cents in coin with a stamped self-addressed envelope to this newspaper.

Newly Formed Club Hears Fashion Talk

Mrs. Nona Damaske, Victoria Daily Times fashion columnist, addressed the Vari-Arts Club recently on the subject of "Fashions."

Diet and posture were pointed out by Mrs. Damaske as being important in beauty culture. In discussing the selection and care of clothing, she stressed the necessity of simplicity for economy in planning a wardrobe on a limited budget.

The Vari-Arts, a new group in the YWCA, is under leadership of Miss Margaret Mahoney, program committee. It derives its name from the combined activities embraced in its program, including social graces and the arts.

Membership consists of young business women as well as young married women, and includes representatives of five

THE VANCOUVER DAILY PROVINCE—FEBRUARY 10, 1955
AT MILK ENQUIRY
'Disease-Free' Area Urged

Metropolitan Vancouver gets its milk supply from an area which Mr. Justice Clynne, at the royal commission enquiry Wednesday, was "surprised" to learn is not disease-free.
Dr. W. R. Gunn, British Columbia livestock commissioner, and chief veterinary inspector, told the commission that the vital Fraser Valley and its 4,000 dairy farms has never been declared free of brucellosis (undulant fever) or mastitis. "I must confess I'm a little surprised to learn this," said Mr. Justice Clynne.

We Are Proud That

The "VANCOUVER ISLAND DISEASE-FREE AREA" is the ONLY major milk-producing area in B.C. to be officially gazetted as such by the Provincial Government. This means that you are constantly protected against Tuberculosis, Undulant Fever, etc.

Recent Testimony Before the Royal Commission on Milk Showed That:

VANCOUVER ISLAND MILK IS DEFINITELY SUPERIOR!

Junior Group Adopts VON Ideals

ing, Mrs. I. Peetz, convener of the rummage sale, and Mrs. W. Findley, finance chairman. VON Week is being celebrated across Canada Feb. 20-26.

The Junior Auxiliary to Victorian Order of Nurses was formed on Jan. 7, 1933, with the following charter members: Misses Kathleen Wilson (president), Marian Minnick (secretary), Bunty Baillie, Betty Bechtel, Marianne Fraser, Jean Gillespie, Vera Sharland and Jean Lemnox. The present membership is 27, and new members are being welcomed as the present goal is a membership of 33.

Purpose of the group is to forward the objectives of the VON by lending assistance, wherever possible, to Miss Marjorie Baird, R.N., and her staff of nurses. This help includes making bandages and dressings used by nurses in their daily visits; helping with parent-craft classes and by supplying various office supplies such as a typewriter, large map, magazines relative to nursing, and the VON quarterly, a publication from headquarters in Ottawa.

HELPS SENIORS

The auxiliary is also available for assistance to the senior board of the VON, financially, and by helping with any senior projects, such as the annual rummage sale, and in preparing for VON week, Feb. 20 to 26, which is set aside to further acquaint the public with the work of VON. Canvassers are always available from the group for Community Chest drives and Red Cross campaigns.

The club has several annual projects, including the annual children's fair in June, and home cooking stalls at the city market several times during the year. Proceeds from these and other endeavors assist the group in their several charities. At Christmas more than $75 was used to pack hampers and bring cheer to the homes of elderly patients of the VON. This supplements the hampers that are packed and donated by members. A yearly donation is sent to the Cancer Dressing Station, and a child is sponsored through the Save the Children Fund. Recently funds from the Junior Board made possible the purchase of a car for the use of a nurse.

Many members are active also with the Senior Board of Management. Mrs. I. Peetz is co-convener for the rummage sale in March, and is a member of the sewing and nominating committee; Mrs. N. E. Impett is chairman of publicity assisted by Mrs. J. Davies, Mrs. N. Colvin and Mrs. E. A. Russell. Former members Mrs. F. Norris and Mrs. W. Findlay have been treasurers of the senior board for consecutive terms and Mrs. Findlay is at present chairman of the finance committee.

Names of the present members of the junior board include Mrs. K. Sedgman, president; Mrs. R. Hull, secretary; Mrs. J. J. Meikle, treasurer; Mrs. J. A. A. George, children's fair convener; Mesdames N. Colvin, J. R. Davies, W. H. Forrest, F. A. Hassell, N. E. Impett, E. A. McGowan, P. O. Neal, I. Peetz, H. A. Smith, E. B. Williams, D. H. Sharpe, R. Cairns, L. Batty, J. A. Miller, J. R. Ingles, J. Puzzles and Pastimes for Juniors

IT'S YOUR MOVE

In this tricky setting, Black has a two-way choice, but either ends in a loss because White's strategy makes allowances for them. White checkers, moving up the board, move first and win in seven moves.

TEST YOUR TONGUE

Repeat the following aloud as rapidly as possible:
Four fat Frenchmen fried a feathered fowl.
Five funny farmers fed 40 frazzled foxes frozen franks.

ADD A VISE

Most home work benches are equipped with a vise, but occasionally the need arises for a somewhat smaller holding device. Such an instrument can be fashioned quickly from a pair of heavy pliers as follows:
Bore a hole and a slot in the top of the work bench, as shown at right above. Bore another hole for a good-sized bolt in the bench leg.
Insert pliers and bolt as shown. (Bolt has a nut on each side.)
Vise is operated by tightening or loosening bolt.

WORTH A TRY?

When leaving the cafeteria restaurant, a well-mannered gentleman handed the cashier, who was a puzzle fan, a slip with these magic numbers on it: 10204180. Without a word of protest, the cashier permitted the man to leave. What did the note say?
Answer in a minute if you can.

Round Trip Maze Test

Billy expects to stop at the homes of three of his friends before returning home. How long will the round-trip take? To find out, select a path at the bottom of the maze and make your way to house No. 1. Continue from there to house No. 2; then to house No. 3. After you have reached the third house, follow the pointed arrow to return to your starting point via a different path. House numbers are marked 1, 2 and 3, and must be visited in this order. Do not cross any lines or retrace steps. If someone else is to try, cover the maze with tissue paper before you begin.

Bomb Made by Amateur Chemist Detonates At Dinner Table; Mother Saves Second Lad

CAMPBELL RIVER (CP) — Jackie Thomson, 14-year-old amateur chemist, was in satisfactory condition here Friday night with burns suffered in one of his experiments.

SWISS VESSEL LOADS LUMBER AT CHEMAINUS

CHEMAINUS—The Ss. Lucendo, that loaded lumber here last week, was the first Swiss ship ever to visit Chemainus.

According to records kept by Empire Stevedoring Co. the same ship called at the port of Crofton four years ago. At that time she was owned by a different firm and went under the name of Ss. Lusanne.

One of five ships in the Swiss merchant fleet, the Lucendo is registered in Basle, Switzerland and is a sleek 2,885 tons. She loaded half a million feet of lumber.

QUALICUM BEACH—A contract for $42,500 has been placed by the provincial works department with B.C. Concrete Co. Ltd. for pre-cast elements for the Big Qualicum bridge.

Vancouver Island Viewpoint

From Up-Island Newspaper Editorial Columns

New Neighbors Soon

THE COWICHAN LEADER

Horizons of residents of this area of Vancouver Island and of the Gulf Islands will widen considerably when the new Crofton-Vesuvius Bay car-ferry service gets under way later this year.

Last doubt that the ferry would operate was removed this week when Ottawa called for tenders for the new Vesuvius Bay wharf. Work on the Crofton wharf has already begun. The ferry, George S. Pearson, has been standing by for some months, waiting for the day when it could make its inaugural run. This event is now likely this summer.

Interest in real estate can be expected to grow to some extent. Salt Spring Island, largest of the Gulf Islands, will doubtless undergo greatest growth. It already has electrical power, being served by B.C. Power Commission, and its largest centre, Ganges, has much to offer, not least a large, modern school.

Boy Scout Campaign

TWIN CITIES TIMES

Once again people of the district are being given a chance to support the Boy Scout movement as the annual financial campaign of the local organization is carried on this week.

At the present time there are something over 265 Scouts and Cubs being trained in the Alberni Valley. The importance of this training was emphasized for the general public last fall when Scouts and former Scouts took a large part in the rescue of an injured mountaineer from the heights of Mount Arrowsmith.

In supporting the campaign, people of the Alberni are ensuring that facilities are provided for training in the skills which made the Scouts such a valuable asset in the rescue, and also in the sterling principles synonymous with the movement.

North Saanich Race Track

THE REVIEW, SIDNEY

Rezoning of an acreage in North Saanich for use as a race track and agricultural fair was approved following a meeting of affected residents last Friday evening. Dr. William Newton, long a public-spirited resident of North Saanich, suggested that the entire community throw its support behind the new race track. The Review is happy to endorse Dr. Newton's appeal.

While we are convinced that operation of regular race meets in North Saanich will bring this district most favorable advertising, with consequent population growth and improved amenities for all, we are equally certain that development of a major agricultural fair could only take place to the detriment of the annual exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society. This would be a grave injustice to countless residents of the Peninsula who have worked for 87 years to develop this major enterprise. The full weight of community support should continue to be thrown to the development of the fair at Saanichton so that it may soon rise in status to that of Class "B."

Indemnities for School Trustees

WEST COAST ADVOCATE

There is no doubt that one of the nicest pieces of legislation the provincial government could bring down would be a permissive entitling school trustees throughout the province to receive indemnities.

This is not a suggestion that they be paid for their time, for public service in any sphere is seldom compensated for in a measure to match the time involved. There can be little arguing, however, that the expenses which a trustee may submit do not begin to cover all his out-of-pocket costs once he accepts membership on a school board. Something approaching the indemnity scale permitted for members on municipal councils would, no doubt, be fair, and at the same time, not impose any significant cost burden on school districts.

The present situation is unfair and it is to be hoped the government will remedy it.

Missing Woman Found Dead on Nanaimo Beach

NANAIMO—An inquest will be held Monday into the death of Mrs. Sarah Cullen, 73, whose body was found on the beach Friday near the Standard Oil wharf.

She had been missing from her near-by home at 210 St. George Street for 48 hours.

Born in Glasgow, she had lived in Nanaimo for 45 years. Surviving are a son and two daughters, all in Nanaimo; a brother in Florida; and a sister in Scotland.

NON-POLITICAL TYPES

Busy Red Group Harbored By Langford Poultryman

LANGFORD — One of the best-known poultrymen on Vancouver Island is F. H. Staverman, who has specialized in the raising of Rhode Island Reds since settling at Langford in 1929.

Born Feb. 5, 1874, at Bandjerman, Borneo, he spent some years in the Dutch East Indies meteorological service, then studied poultry husbandry in the United States.

He became interested in Rhode Island Reds in Holland in 1919. He came to Canada in 1927, and two years later settled on Leigh Road, beside Langford Lake.

The hen Mr. Staverman is holding in the above picture was junior champion at the Vancouver winter poultry show last December.

Chemainus Theatre Manager Resigns

CHEMAINUS—Clyde Campbell has resigned as manager of the Willow Theatre here, and he and Mrs. Campbell will leave shortly for an extended vacation in Mexico.

Manager of the theatre for the past five and a half years, Mr. Campbell had seen it grow from a small community theatre into a district-wide attraction.

Keith Dewar will succeed Mr. Campbell as manager of the theatre. Mrs. Dewar will assist her husband.

New Station To Cost BCPC $570,000

Construction of a new 132,000-volt switching station at Dunsuir, near Qualicum, to improve its Vancouver Island transmission system, has been announced by B.C. Power Commission.

Work will begin on the project in April and the station is expected to be in full operation early next year. Total cost is estimated at approximately $570,000.

The bulk of the power generated at the John Hart Development on Campbell River is transmitted 90 miles to the Nanaimo area over two 132,000-volt circuits. One of these circuits loops through Alberni, thus adding another 28 miles of transmission.

The new Dunsuir switching station will be constructed at the junction of the take-off to Alberni. This will not only shorten the transmission distance to Nanaimo, but will provide a sectionalizing point for the existing long lines. The shorter sections of line will thus strengthen the transmission system, and trouble on any one line section will permit transmission of peak power to Nanaimo without reduction in voltage levels.

The new Dunsuir station will be remotely controlled by the operator continuously in attendance at the commission's Nanaimo Jingle Pot station.

Help Retarded Children, Jaycees Urge

200 Found in Duncan Area

DUNCAN — A Duncan Junior Chamber of Commerce investigation has revealed that there are about 200 retarded children in this district.

At a Jaycee meeting this week Gilbert Thom, past president and co-chairman of the retarded children investigation committee, said that 20 of the 200 needed special treatment while the remaining 180 should attend special schools.

He said that it was apparent that retarded children in the smaller areas such as Duncan did not receive the necessary treatment.

In the larger towns and cities in British Columbia, he said, there are special institutions, but no parent in Duncan, or any other smaller city, wanted to see his child removed entirely from the district for treatment.

Mr. Thom said he and his co-chairman, Tim Chang, had carried out an investigation in this district and had come to the conclusion that a special school was required for retarded children.

He said that Duncan was not an isolated case, and that through the Jaycees it was hoped to arouse both the government and public to establish special schools for retarded children. His investigation committee will continue its work until this aim is accomplished, he said.

VILLAGE GIVES LAND FOR 60-BED HOSPITAL

CAMPBELL RIVER—The deed to a nine-acre tract of land was turned over this week by the Campbell River Village Commission to the District Hospital Society.

It was accepted by Alec Crouch, president of the society, and trustee, Jack Torrance, at the Municipal Hall. The two men represented the group that will administer the new Campbell River district general hospital of 60 beds.

"The citizens of Campbell River will be proud to have contributed such a fine area of land for such a worthy cause," Mr. Crouch said.

The hospital will be financed by taxation throughout a hospital improvement district that includes Campbell River and much of the surrounding area.

Planning Committee Formed To Launch Sidney CD Unit

SIDNEY—A planning committee was formed here this week as the nucleus of a civil defense organization for Sidney and North Saanich unorganized area.

R. M. Lamont, civil defense co-ordinator for the Greater Victoria Mutual Aid Area, was chairman, and the following local residents were appointed in charge of the various branches of the services: Mrs. Claudia Whipple, welfare and emergency feeding; Art Gardner, chief of fire services; Charles Douma, communications; civil defense officer, A. W. Sharp; Const. George Kent, RCMP, police services; Dr. R. West, health services; M. R. Eaton, chief warden; "Buster" Shade, transport services; Ted Clarke, rescue service; Herbert Bradley, advisor for village commission; Mrs. Vivian Cowan, secretary and publicity.

Plans are being formulated for a series of courses in the various services, and anyone interested in the work of a civil defense organization may get in touch with any of the above named people.

On March 3 an equipped rescue truck, rescue team and an ambulance crew from Victoria will put on a demonstration at the fire hall here. Interested residents will be welcomed at the services; Dr. R. West, the evening workout.

7 Dead, 17 Hurt as Winter's Worst Blizzard Moves East

BLIZZARDS ISOLATE MANY U.K. VILLAGES

LONDON (CP)—Helicopters droned over the craggy hills of north Scotland taking power-line repairmen to isolated villages today as ships bucked rough seas along the coasts of the British Isles.

Severe blizzards Friday ripped down powerlines and left many villages and fishing ports without electricity. In the outlying islands of the Shetland Orkney groups workmen waged a round-the-clock fight against the snow to restore power supplies. Twelve men were flown to the Orkneys to speed up repairs.

Forecasts say the cold spell will continue. Nearly all roads in southern England today were coated with snow and ice, slowing heavy week-end traffic to half its normal speed.

Storm Eases

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)—Transportation is returning to normal in the Maritimes after almost 36 hours of steady snow and rain.

Weathermen report Moncton and Fredericton received the brunt of the storm with up to two feet of snow.

The snow turned to rain in most sections of Nova Scotia and Halifax streets were turned into flowing rivers when rains turned four inches of snow into slush that clogged drains.

ANDY MacKENZIE STORY CONTINUES IN WEEKEND

The second instalment of Squadron Leader Andy MacKenzie's story of his imprisonment in Communist China appears in Weekend Magazine in this issue.

It describes the beginning of his interrogation while he was kept in solitary confinement, cold and hungry and in fear of death.

For the Album of Hockey Stars today the subject is Detroit's "Dutch" Reibel.

Faure Asked To Organize French Cabinet

PARIS (AP)—President Rene Coty tonight summoned former premier Edgar Faure to the Elysee Palace to ask him to try to become the next premier of France.

Faure, a Radical Socialist who held the job as premier for about six weeks in 1952, has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate since the National Assembly overthrew Pierre Mendes-France Feb. 5.

Faure was finance minister in Mendes-France's cabinet for almost all of the 7½-month term. In the final days he moved to the foreign ministry when Mendes-France gave up that post.

The president called on Faure after the National Assembly rejected Christian Pineau's premiership bid.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The Vancouver Sun today announced increases in its single copy price from five to seven cents and monthly subscription rates from $1.25 to $1.50. The Saturday edition will be boosted from 10 to 14 cents.

The newspaper said there had been no price increases for five years "although materials, services and wages and salaries of everyone working for the Sun have increased every year."

Vincent Jury Out

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The fate of carnival worker Lawrence Vincent rested in the hands of a 12-man jury today after Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris implied that the accused had been the last person to see 12-year-old Donna Lee Corbett alive. The jury retired at 12.42 p.m.

LONDON (Reuters)—The underdogs had their day in Football Association Cup play today. Third Division York City beat First Division Tottenham Hotspur 3-1; Second Division Notts County blanked First Division Chelsea 1-0, and Second Division Swansea Town rallied to tie First Division Sunderland 2-2 and force a replay.

Only three First Division teams—Huddersfield, Manchester City and Wolverhampton Wanderers—are certain of their places in the first eight to qualify for the quarter-finals.

U.S. Airliner, 16 Aboard, Missing

Plane crashes in bad weather took at least four lives today and 19 other persons were missing.

A Trans-World airliner with 16 persons aboard was missing in snowing weather on a flight from Albuquerque to Santa Fe, N.M. Ground parties went into the Sandia Mountains south of Albuquerque, and around Albuquerque search planes took to the air.

Near Loami in Sangamon County, Ill., the wreckage of a light plane with a woman and three men aboard was found about 10.30 a.m. It was believed to have crashed about eight hours earlier. A farm woman said she heard the plane low over the house about 2 a.m. The wreckage was found later nearby.

At New Orleans, search went on by air and water for a plane believed to have crashed into Lake Pontchartrain with three Indiana men aboard.

Police Union Bucks 'Emergency' Plan

(Compiled From CP and BUP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume today called on every member of the Vancouver police department to work 12 hours a day, seven days a week and without holiday to combat what he termed the city's "shocking drug problem."

Police Federal Union president Det. Fred Dougherty said the union would not agree to Mayor Hume's recommendation because the present drug situation here "could hardly be called an emergency."

"We will not sacrifice any part of our contract in connection with working hours," Dougherty bluntly warned.

Mayor Hume said police would be paid overtime for the extra hours worked. His plan, in effect, would ask police to work an 84-hour week during the "emergency."

SEATO PACT RATIFIED

MANILA (AP)—The eight-power Manila pact, aimed at halting Communist aggression and subversion in Southeast Asia, was formally ratified and put into force today.

Instruments of ratification of the pact, called the Southeast Asia collective defense treaty, were deposited by representatives of the United States, Britain, Thailand, Philippines, Pakistan, New Zealand, France and Australia.

Formal ratification came barely five months after the treaty was signed in Manila, Sept. 8.

Eden Heads East To Start Talks On Asia Defense

LONDON (Reuters)—Foreign Secretary Eden today headed for Thailand and talks to set in motion the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

At the same time, he will confer in Bangkok on British and American differences over the Formosa crisis and will examine the post-armistice situation in Indo-China with the other delegates at the eight-power conference.

Taking part in the Bangkok meetings will be Britain, the United States, France, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan and the Philippines.

Britain regards the Formosa situation as highly inflammable. Eden does not feel a settlement is possible while the Chinese Communists refuse to consider all suggestions short of the Nationalist stronghold being handed over to them.

For this reason Britain does not favor the idea of a conference—as suggested by Russia—to arrange a settlement, and has told Moscow that at such a conference Nationalist China, as a party principally concerned, must be present. The Chinese Communists are strongly against this.

Red Junks Sunk

Troopships Hit By Chiang Planes

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—The Chinese Nationalist Air Force said its planes destroyed 15 of 23 motorized Communist armed junks spotted near the Taishan Islands in the Formosa Strait today.

The air force said five other junks were damaged heavily. This was in the same area where the Nationalist air force and navy claimed to have sunk 21 Red ships and a submarine Friday.

Tonight's communique said all planes returned safely. There was no mention of opposition by Chinese Communist planes.

REINFORCING TAIHANS

The Reds appear to have been making an intensive effort to build up on the Taishans, which are within striking range of Nationalist positions on Nanchi Island.

Newspapers here report that the Chinese Communist troop and supply ships sunk Friday in Nationalist China's biggest naval victory radioed for air cover, but no Red planes appeared.

The newspapers hail the victory as revenge for the sinking of the destroyer escort Taiping by Red torpedo boats off the Tachens in November and Communist seizure of Yikiangshan island north of the Tachens last month.

Advance intelligence of the Reds' troop and supply movements is said to have set up the Nationalist strike.

Word of the victory lifted morale here from the low caused by last week's withdrawal from the Tachen islands.

U.S. Airliner, 16 Aboard, Missing

BY UNITED PRESS

Plane crashes in bad weather took at least four lives today and 19 other persons were missing.

A Trans-World airliner with 16 persons aboard was missing in snowing weather on a flight from Albuquerque to Santa Fe, N.M. Ground parties went into the Sandia Mountains south of Albuquerque and around Albuquerque search planes took to the air.

Near Leam in Sangamon County, Ill., the wreckage of a light plane, with a woman and three men aboard was found about 10:30 a.m. It was believed to have crashed about eight hours earlier. A farm woman said she heard the plane low over the house about 2 a.m. The wreckage was found later nearby.

At New Orleans, search went on by air and water for a plane believed to have crashed into Lake Pontchartrain with three Indians men aboard.

Tonight, between 6:30 and 7:30, thousands of mothers canvass homes with porch lights burning for Vic-Van Isle Kinsmen's "Mothers' March on Polio" in aid of B.C. Polio Fund. Mrs. P. C. Sims, 484 Kingston, greets canvasser Mrs. Edgar Wadsworth, whose special interest in the drive lies in the fact her husband is a polio victim (see story, Page 5). Signal for porch lights to go on will be a long blast on the old brewery whistle and a round from Work Point time gun. Cheques should be made out to B.C. Polio Fund and mailed to Campaign Headquarters, 625 Fort. (Times Photo.)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.

(UP)—The United States and Britain received with skepticism today Russia's latest proposal for destruction of nuclear weapons, but nonetheless decided to send in a top team of negotiators to meet the Reds at next week's disarmament conference.

Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., the United States' chief delegate to the United Nations and Anthony Nutting for Britain will have a chance to review the Russian proposal with Russia's Andre Gromyko when they meet in London next Friday.

The surprise stature of the Russian delegate was a factor in the decision to have the United States and Britain send representatives to sit in on the London conference.

There was no real hope that the London meeting would come up with a disarmament formula. But Russia's present talkative mood lent hope for at least limited headway.

In London and Washington it should be "appropriate international control for observation" of the disarmament program. But officials said this is generalized—and perhaps propaganda—phraseology. They said the Russians should spell out their idea in concrete terms.

They noted that Russia in the past has repeatedly refused to accept an inspection system that would allow western powers to be sure she lived up to her pledges to ban atomic weapons.

Officials also were skeptical about Russia's coupling the atomic disarmament plan with a proposal that all nations limit the size of their armed forces to Jan. 1 levels.

Officials said this would rule out rearmament of Germany and Japan and would give Russia and her satellites a vast military manpower superiority over the West. They pointed out that the West's counterbalance against Russia's mass armies has been this country's atomic stockpile.

Only three First Division teams—Huddersfield, Manchester City and Wolverhampton Wanderers—are certain of their places in the quarter-finals.

However, Newcastle, against Notts Forest, and Sunderland against Swansea, can qualify by winning replays.

It also was a bad day for London clubs. Chelsea, Tottenham and Charlton lost in out-of-town games. (See scores, page 3.)

Vincent Jury Out

VANCOUVER (BUP)—The fate of carnival worker Lawrence Vincent rested in the hands of a 12-man jury today after Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris implied that the accused had been the last person to see 12-year-old Donna Lee Corbett alive. The jury retired at 12:42 p.m.

84-Hour Week Plan Proposed for Police

(Compiled From CP and BUP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mayor Fred Hume today called on every member of the Vancouver police department to work 12 hours a day, seven days a week and without holiday to combat what he termed the city's "shocking drug problem."

Police Federal Union president Det. Fred Dougherty said the union would not agree to Mayor Hume's recommendation because the present drug situation here "could hardly be called an emergency."

"We will not sacrifice any part of our contract in connection with working hours," Dougherty bluntly warned.

Mayor Hume said police would be paid overtime for the extra hours worked. His plan, in effect, would ask police to work an 84-hour week during the "emergency."

NOT EMERGENCY

The union official said the police would work unlimited hours in any "real emergency" such as a disaster, but that the present drug menace was not serious enough for such drastic action.

"In this instance the union will insist on the city keeping faith with the full terms of our contract," Dougherty declared.

The mayor outlined his plan in a statement issued following publication by the Vancouver Sun Friday of a dispatch from New York exposing Vancouver's connections with international narcotics rings.

MOST INFAMOUS

The Sun story, written by Jack Wasserman, Sun reporter and columnist in New York on special assignment, said top New York narcotics investigators list Vancouver as one of the most infamous drug centres on the continent. (See Wasserman story, page 2.)

The mayor, who stressed that the plan was his own personal suggestion and made without consultation with other members of the police commission, said it would keep 350 trained policemen on duty in Vancouver at all times. He is chairman of the three-man commission.

He gave no indication when the plan would be placed before the commission.

"We could also call out retired policemen to provide trained reserves," said Mayor Hume.

He termed the plan "the starting point" of an all-out drive to meet the "emergency situation."

"If conditions do not improve, we may have to ask for more help."

Only three First Division teams—Huddersfield, Manchester City and Wolverhampton Wanderers—are certain of their places in the quarter-finals.

However, Newcastle, against Notts Forest, and Sunderland against Swansea, can qualify by winning replays.

Faure Asked To Organize French Cabinet

PARIS (CP)—Edgar Faure, foreign minister in the outgoing government of Pierre Mendes-France, tonight accepted an invitation from President Rene Coty to try to form a new government.

Faure, a Radical Socialist who held the job as premier for about six weeks in 1952, has been frequently mentioned as a possible candidate since the National Assembly overthrew Mendes-France Feb. 5.

Faure was finance minister in Mendes-France's cabinet for almost all of the 7½-month term. In the final days he moved to the foreign ministry when Mendes-France gave up that post.
